

WE NOMINATE

Eleven able, community-conscious Princetonians who this coming week — on Election Tuesday between the hours of 7:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m. — will pass in review before their fellow townsmen as the Borough and Township of Princeton in the teeming State of New Jersey once again weigh the qualifications of candidates for local office. These 11, each of whom is qualified for the post he or she seeks, reaffirm the democratic tradition of "self-government on the grass-roots level" and suggest by their presence on the ballot that "volunteer spirit" remains a vital force in the nation's political life.

Against the back-drop of a lackluster gubernatorial campaign, and for long weeks overshadowed by the charges (and counter-charges) and dismaying bitterness generated by the Referendum on the Regionalization of the Borough and Township Schools, these Republicans and Democrats have succeeded in focussing attention on many of the issues confronting the anomaly of the "Two Princetons." While it has hardly been a stirring fall, and platitudes have been falling like leaves for the past fortnight, it has been a campaign free of acrimony and of the senseless accusations that all too often can injure a community.

In the Republican-dominated Township, where Monday's election-eve rallies may be delayed by the public hearing on the proposed Planning Ordinance, the pre-election edge rests with the incumbent 42-year old Mayor, Carl C. Schafer Jr., an independent businessman recently turned educator. Schafer, a lifelong Princetonian, is paired for the two 3-year terms on Township Committee with Burton Peskin, 41, successful attorney and active in Delaware Valley service organizations. The lone Democrat is a brilliant and articulate scientist, Melvin B. Gottlieb, 48, Director of the University's Plasma Physics Laboratory, whose extracurricular interests have long been the community's recreational needs.

The Borough mayoralty race finds Nicholas J. Bartolino, painting contractor, commanding officer of Princeton's National Guard Unit and 42-year old president of the Princeton Democratic Association, challenging Mayor Henry S. Patterson, the Borough's chief executive since 1962. The latter, 43 and well-known in the public utilities field, remains the odds-on favorite. The aspirants for Borough Collector of Taxes are Republican Geoffrey G. Sage, the Acting Collector, retired naval captain, and for long years Director of Civil Defense for the Borough and Township, and Mrs. Marie Bonner Coan, the mother of three and the highly regarded officer and member of a dozen community organizations.

The two openings on Borough Council, the only governing body offering not a single penny of compensation, have attracted a quartet of appealing aspirants. The Republicans are "going with experience": two incumbents and both former Council Presidents, architect William H. Walker II, 51, and engineer Alfred E. Sorenson, 63. Their Democratic opponents, both concerned with such essentials as youth activities and housing for the elderly, are Joseph L. Bannon, 40, a consultant in public affairs, and H. Philip Minis, 57, writer-editor and this year chairman of the Citizens Survey Committee for the United Fund and Council of Community Services.

For their devotion to what they believe are Princeton's best interests; for asking their constituents to take an abiding and penetrating interest in municipal affairs; for radiating the courage of the convictions they have willingly shared with others; these 11 are our nominees as

THE JOY OF QUIETNESS THE PRIDE OF QUALITY

Privacy and distinctive design are only two of the many qualities that distinguish this custom-built contemporary house. Set on the crest of a wooded glen, its rear patio-deck seems almost to nest among the trees. Opening to the patio are the living room and den and the master bedroom suite also has a window wall overlooking the woods. The kitchen is lined with walnut cabinets and has a pass-thru to the den which features a raised-hearth marble fireplace. There are 2 more bedrooms and bath. On the lower level is a full basement with workshop and 2 car garage. The lot totals 1.6 acres. A unique house in an outstandingly lovely location.

TOWN AND GOWN
Zoning Hearing Monday.
Monday night at 8 in Township Hall, a new engagement in the post-thrust and counter-thrust known as "Town and Gown" will take place. Set against each other are Princeton University's tremendous need to expand and grow, and the Township's desire to keep the density down.

Everybody knows that the University has expansion plans; these plans have been taking shape, building after building, since the end of the war, and will continue to do so for some time. But there are two elements of conflict involved: it is the obvious fact that the University does not in a vacuum by itself, but in two communities — Borough and Township with needs of their own. (West Windsor, too, but that is apart, at the moment.) The other is the University's apparent policy of keeping specific plans under cover until they are finally formulated.

High Rise? On Monday night, the Township Committee will hold the first but probably not the last public hearing on its new zoning ordinance. It will also hold public hearings on recommended amendments to the ordinance submitted by the Township Planning Board. The Township has no height restrictions on buildings. Some years ago, it allowed the University to build the two eight-story apartment buildings for young faculty on the shore of Lake Carnegie. There are no other comparable apartment buildings anywhere in Princeton, Borough or Township.

A few months ago, the Township approved a new graduate student housing near the Springdale Golf Course, a complex that will include a 13-story building. The building permit for the first part of this complex — 150 units — was issued this summer. (See Business in Princeton, page 16.)

The new zoning ordinance has been the subject of thoughtful discussion between Township Planning Board and Committee for some months. To accommodate the University, and at the same time put some kind of limit on "how high and how much," the Township incorporated into its new ordinance a height restriction.

tion in the outer limits of the Education Zone. It sets a ceiling of 120 feet and states that buildings may cover only 50% of the lot.

Urges Lower Height. But to the Township Planning Board, this is too much. By a vote of 6-1, the Board has recommended that Committee amend the new ordinance by dropping the ceiling to 100 feet and allowing a lot coverage of only 20%.

(Most University buildings, aside from towers, are about 100 feet in height. To see what 20% lot coverage is, look at the Holder-Blair-University Shore area. That plot is just about 20% covered with buildings. What is a "lot" on a University campus? The Planning Board has made divisions on a map which will be treated as "lots" for the purpose of blocking out coverage.)

There are other recommendations from the Planning Board, too, such as inclusion of parking areas in lot size and elimination of the so-called "foot-area" ratio, but the height and lot coverage provisions are the vital ones for the University. And for the Township.

Committee is known to be divided on the question of these amendments. If it votes them down, it must pass the ordinance itself by a 4-1 vote.

A Defense. With these crucial decisions about to be made, the University has apparently decided it should explain itself to the town.

Last week, co-incidentally on the day the Planning Board recommendations were released to the press, Princeton University's president, Robert F. Gohsen, delivered an address on "The University in the Princeton Community" before a dinner given by the Princeton Bar Association. This week, in a full-page letter to the community published in TOWN TOPICS and other Princeton papers, Dr. Gohsen amplifies his remarks. He also confirms for the first time in public, apparently under the prodding of the University's undergraduate newspaper, The Daily Princetonian, what has been rumored in town for some time: the fact that the University plans a 13-story math building near Palmer Stadium. The Daily Princetonian broke the story on Thursday.

Biggest Taxpayer. Before Princeton's lawyers and the press, President Gohsen cited the financial contributions made by the University to the town. He said that the University is the biggest taxpayer in Princeton, paying 8.4% of the Borough and 4.1% of the Township's assessments, and reminding his audience that the University pays full taxes on all properties not devoted to academic use.

He spoke of the University's $24.8 million annual payroll. He said that eight out of ten of the 3,203 employees of the University "live, spend and pay taxes or rent in Borough or Township." He spoke of the cultural advantages available to the community because of the University and referred to the role played by faculty and staff within Princeton in PTA, Boy Scouts, hospital and local government.

BOROUGH MAKES OFFER

To Township School Board. "The Borough Board of Education believes that the educational association of Princeton Borough and Township should be continued. We therefore urge the Township Board of Education to join with us in a study of any reasonable alternative to preserve this association."

This statement, drafted in executive session on Tuesday, October 19, was unanimously adopted by the Borough Board at Tuesday's meeting. More than 60 residents were present, many armed with pad and pen. Mrs. Sarah Strayer, Board vice-president, further proposed that the board and seven members of the community, serving as an advisory committee, "study the future of the Borough schools in relation to the Township schools and the other sending districts."

A counter proposal was made by Mrs. Bernice Miller of the board, who stated that residents have expressed concern for the high school. "I am interested in a study made by an outside consultant, mainly on our high school should be. I don't mean a general study of Borough Schools . . . You are asking for a very vague committee."

Dr. Harvey D. Rothberg and Professor Robert L. Livi, spoke in favor of a Borough-Township study. Dr. Graham Rohrer suggested waiting for a Township response. "If there's any delay on the part of the Township, then it behooves the Borough to pursue a study on our own."

"I still think," said Mrs. Strayer, "that we have many things to straighten out in our own area. The Township is going to be pretty busy for the next few weeks, and I am not sure they are going to have time to talk with us."

Pursuant to Mrs. Strayer's suggestion, Mr. Rohrer requested that Borough residents submit to the board in writing the names of residents who would be willing to serve as advisors.

teachers themselves, and similar items.

"We earnestly hope that the Borough School Board, as it devises its budget for the coming year, will give a favorable hearing to this request." Committee members listed included Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tyson, the Rev. and Mrs. A. D. Tyson, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hines, Mr. and Mrs. Edward McEwen, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Lanford Bolling, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Floyd, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wooten, Mr. and Mrs. Martha Yeager, Mr. and Mrs.

Charles Sperling, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. James Green, Mrs. Barbara White and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wright.

Mr. Rohrer noted that most of the suggestions were in Dr. Stoup's recommendations. "We have incentive money for a social worker," Dr. Stoup said. "The state pays half the salary for the first year, 25% the next year."

A petition signed by 134 residents requested the board to study in detail the possibility of regionalizing Princeton High School. "This obviously will

Recommendations. A number of suggestions were accepted by the board for further study. Among them were four from Superintendent of Schools Chester R. Stoup. (1) the addition of a part-time social worker to the special services team who would spend much of his or her time as liaison between home and school, and play a key role in the Witherspoon School "High Horizons" program;

(2) the teacher workshops, begun several years ago with elementary school teachers by Dr. Melvin Tumin, Marvin Bressler and Dr. Sol Gordon, should be widened in scope and extended to include all high school teachers;

(3) special remedial help during the summer for the children in need of it, with all of the school system's diagnostic and remedial services in use. And, the library be kept open again next summer.

The board approved the hiring of graduate students and other qualified persons to act as assistants to the teachers as study hall proctors, laboratory aids, library assistants and in similar capacities. The program, begun experimentally in September, involves 23 part-timers, paid approximately $1.50 an hour. "Just to do this because of some special interest they have in the children," Dr. Stoup said. A budget of $6,000 is set up for the year.

Negro Students. Concern about "the academic performance of Negro children in the Borough school system" was expressed in a letter dated October 12 from C. Shelby Brooks, chairman of a group of residents who have children in the schools. Stating that the "Negro community is not competing well with their peers," he suggested (1) the addition of a social worker to the staff particularly for junior and senior high school students and their parents; (2) a remedial program for Negro children at the junior high school level; and (3) an in-service teacher training program for study of factors which inhibit the Negro student, the attitudes of the Advisory Board Formed

Twelve Princeton business and professional men have agreed to serve on the new Vocational Education Advisory Committee for the Borough Board of Education. The committee will work closely with the expanding vocational education programs at Princeton High School.

Members include Sherman Bates, Theodore Curtis of McGraw-Hill; Charles R. Young of American Cyanamid; Robert E. Adams and Frederick H. Harrison of Princeton University; Charles A. Hurdell, RCA Laboratories; L. O. Kurok, Western Electric Company; Ralph Hild, Hilt's Shoes; Albert P. Ritzard, Princeton Hospital; Dr. Edwin Rogers, Harold Stark, Bambergers, and Gilbert C. Turner, First National Bank of Princeton.

he included in the work of the committee and we will do whatever we can in this connection," Mr. Nohrer said.

In other actions, the board accepted with regret the resignation of high school biology teacher Paul E. Leland. A faculty member for seven years, he will become responsible for a national training program for Mettler Instrument Corp. At this announcement, Mrs. Muriel Yonacka of the High School PTA entered a plea that no more high-school teachers be lost because of the Borough salary scale.

The board endorsed the planned Mercer County Community College and asked residents to support the proposal on Election day. It awarded $38,464.05 contract to Kingston Brunswick Products Co. for the extension of Guyot Avenue and allied work at the new John Witherspoon School. The school is about 85% complete, with a March 1, 1968, target date.

In response to a written inquiry from Mrs. Edith L. LeVernor, president of the high school PTA, Board Alderman William Miller stated that the status of Montgomery Township as a sending district is pending proceedings, now in abeyance, before the State Board of Education. Mrs. LeVernor noted that there are 270 children from Montgomery in the high school, of whom about 87 to 90 are freshmen. "The overcrowding of the school is untenable," she said.

THE CAMPAIGN: HI

Name Stretch: A community exhausted by the blood-letting of the school merger campaign watched almost listlessly this week as candidates made the final statements in what must have been the quietest Princeton election in many years.

In the Borough, where Republican Henry S. Patterson is running for his third term as mayor against the Democratic candidate, Nicholas J. Bartolone, the Republican campaign committee replied to the Democrat's plan for middle-income apartment units over parking lots.

"The Democrat plan is unworkable and unrealistic for these reasons," the committee declares. "Under the zoning ordinance, only about 38 units could be built... scattered over five different parking lots. Cost of construction would be very high because each stock-like structure is erected on stilts would require its own heating system, utility system etc. The proposal would eliminate 58 parking spaces because of the zoning requirement for 3-400 square feet per apartment for recreation."

The committee points out that the Borough plans to acquire the interior of blocks for parking yards (Park Place) because such land is cheaper and offers delivery access to the rear of Nassau Street stores, thereby helping to keep Nassau freer of traffic.

"Apartments on such interior yards would again clutter the interior of the blocks and hamper non-Nassau Street deliveries," the statement continues.

Republicans urge an investigation by the present Housing Authority "rather than creating another governmental agency or authority as the Democrats seem to desire."

Republican Council candidates are incumbents William H. Walker II and Alfred E. Sorensen.

Borough and Township Democrats joined in making their final campaign statement. It is a pledge of cooperation on a 206-1/2 pass from Governor Richard D.

Borough Democratic Council candidates are H. Philip Mainis and Joseph L. Bannan. The Township's Democratic candidate is Melvin Gottlieb.

In the Township, Mayor Carl C. Schafer is seeking his second term as a member of Township Committee, running with Burton Peskin on the Republican ticket.

Economy in government, "rapid implementation of the recreation programs," including completion of swimming facilities in 1966 and, continued extension of the sewer program lead the list of Republican pledges for the Township.

The Schafer - Peskin team also favors acceleration of the Township's Green Acres and recreation programs; support of the Township Planning Board's opposition to 1-95 and "furtherance of the Township's position as a leader in employment opportunities and working conditions."

CAMPAIGN WARMS UP

In Neighboring Areas. Party politics and the enigma of the independent voter are in the foreground this week as candidates in municipalities bordering Princeton go their final rounds.

In Montgomery Township, residents will hear from all candidates at this Thursday's candidates' night, set for 8:15 p.m. in the elementary school, under League of Women Voters' sponsorship.

Aspirants for township committee include Richard W. Bell, John E. Dixon Jr., Edward A. James and A. Louis Shee, all Democrats; and Otto Kaufman, Robert Minier, Robert Schwenker and Harold Warner, Republicans. Rita Fenwick, Democrat, and Reuben

Muslemann, Republican, oppose each other in the race for tax collector. Running for Board of Chosen Freeholders are Grace Guriale, Democratic incumbent, and John Ewing, Republican. Surrogate candidates are John Pepen, Republican, and Peter Hughes III, Democrat.

In West Windsor, residents will elect township committeemen, a tax assessor and a tax collector. Republican Malcolm B. Roszel is up for reelection to township commit-

Lawrence candidates for township committee posts include two incumbents, Lloyd A. Carver and Charles E. Coannell, Jr., both Democrats. Opposing them are Edward J. Cooverse and George F. Johnson Jr., Republicans.

In Borough Board, Joseph B. Hill, Democrat, and A. Merlin Smith, Republican, face each other in the majority race. Candidates for borough council are James P. Boughner and Edgar M. Smith, Republicans, and C. Thomas Cooper and Hugh M. Gilmore, Democrats.

In Pennington, Lear L. Quirkie (Republican) opposes Thomas J. McGinn, Democrat, for mayor. Candidates for Pennington Council seats are Patricia S. O'Hara and Benjamin M. Phillips, Republicans, and John J. Donigan Jr. and Otis P. Kerlin, Sr., Democrats.

Rocky Hill has two council posts open. Candidates are incumbent Richard Young and Robert LaBahn, Republicans; Carl Robbins and Elliott Engle, Democrats.

Jack Nicholson is unopposed for re-election as tax collector. One of two Democratic candidates for the post in the primary several years ago, Mr. Nicholson was defeated as a Democrat, but stayed in the race due to write-in votes on the Republican side. He ran on the Republican ticket in the general elections and was victorious.

HUGHES FAVORS BYPASS
Pledges Cooperation. "I am hopeful that we can overcome this obstructionism when the Legislature returns," Governor Richard Hughes said this week after a discussion on the Route 206 by-pass with Democratic candidates from Borough and Township.

"Legislation authorizing construction of this by-pass was twice passed in the Assembly after being introduced by the Mercer County delegation," Governor Hughes pointed out. "However, it regrettably was blocked on both occasions in the Senate. I am hopeful that we can overcome this obstructionism when the legislature returns."

The Governor pledged to the candidates his support in giving the by-pass high priority when the Legislature reconvenes on November 8, and he said that he has directed his council to work on legislation required to hasten construction of the highway.

He commended the candidates "for your initiative" in asking him to discuss the matter with them.

"It is through your efforts that we can hope for quick action in this area when the Legislature convenes," said the Governor. "As you requested, I have discussed the matter with highway Commissioner Dwight Palmer and have been assured that he will lend full cooperation."

Participating in the discussion with Governor Hughes were Nicholas J. Bartolino, candidate for Mayor of the Borough; Joseph L. Bannan and H. Philip Minis, candidates for Borough Council; and Melvin B. Gottlieb, candidate for Township Committee.

Mr. Bartolino, after the meeting with the Governor, urged creation of a Joint Borough-Township Traffic Committee to investigate traffic control in the center of town, "developing alternate east-west routes including the loop road and devising a public transportation system to get the one-man, one-car all-day parker out of town and give him quick, cheap service to where he works."

POOL PASSES

"Now or Never." A brief public hearing, a unanimous "yes" vote and the $370,000 swimming pool ordinance passed Township Committee Monday night.

The only ripple of opposition came from C. Dan Tamasi, 229 Terhune Road, who asked how much his taxes were likely to go up.

Committeeman William L. Wilson did a little figuring and then said about 2.3c per $1000 of assessed valuation. He reminded Mr. Tamasi that the pool would be, if possible, self-supporting with swimming times divided between free-and-fee. Construction costs

"Will this pool pre-empt possible site for the new township high school asked George Alexander, 837 State Road.

Mrs. Richard Schoch, who wears a double-breasted hat consisting of membership on Township School Board and Jockey Recreation Board, pointed out that Community Gardens was originally given to Princeton for recreation purposes and that only by "the grace of God" was the school road granted the land for Community Park School.

Speaking of schools — "I think it's now or never" on the winning pool, warned Mayor Carl C. Schafer. "If we're going to build a new high school in the near future, we're going to have to tighten our purse-strings, and if we decide on a pool now, later will be too late."

Seymour Albert, for PAHS said, "I would like to commend Committee for their response to Princeton's need for a pool and for their fast action on the recommendation of the Joint Recreation Board." Mrs. Schoch added her thanks. Because of the juxtaposition of pool, Township Hall, Community Park School and a possible new Township Hall, the Planning Board would like to confer with Committees, Board of Education and Joint Recreation Board before final drawings are made, and Committee agreed.

NO VANDALISM, PLEASE. Plea by Chief McCrohan. As far as we're concerned, Saturday night is both mischief night and Halloween; we hope to call it quits right there.

Borough Police Chief Peter J. McCrohan followed this statement with a plea to the youth of Princeton not to "commit any violent acts of vandalism. We hope they will be sensible about it and not cause us or the town any embarrassment."

Chief McCrohan went on to say that anyone caught committing vandalism would be arrested and prosecuted. "Any boy apprehended with a spray paint can in his possession is going to be in serious trouble," he said.

Chief McCrohan said that his department frowns on smoking cars and building windows. He warned that anyone apprehended soaping foul words on windows would be arrested and prosecuted.

To hold down the number of pranks, Chief McCrohan said that his department would have as many extra policemen and deputies patrolling the streets as possible. He ended by saying that Sunday was not the day for anyone to celebrate Halloween mischief. "I hope the youth of this town will honor the Sabbath and stay off the streets," he said.

UNICEF DRIVE PREPARED By Neighborhood Children. Children will once again play an important part in the annual "unicef" drive for UNICEF program, but this year there will be some changes. The children will ask for less candy and for a donation for children in other parts of the world on Halloween night. Also, the child's parents must sign a permission slip before he is allowed to solicit.

Tenagers will act as block captains will organize the solicitors in their blocks. They will check to make sure the children have permission slips, which may be obtained from township and borough schools, Male's bookstore, or from Sue Heinemann at 921-4481. Slips will also be available at the Nassau Street School.

Residents who are not contacted or who will be away on Halloween and wish to contribute towards the goal of $2,000 may mail their checks to Peter Heinemann, 52 Locust Lane, Princeton. Checks should be made payable to the U.S. Committee for UNICEF.

Tenagers wishing to help may contact Verna Grog (924-1850), Julie Rake (924-1655) or Sue Heinemann. In addition to these three, other Princeton High students working on the UNICEF committee include

High School Study Set

The Township took another positive step toward its new high school Tuesday when George Grace, president of the Board of Education, announced the appointment of Richard Pearson as chairman of a Citizens' Advisory Committee for the Princeton Township High School.

Mr. Pearson was a member of the Township Board for two three-year terms. He was Board president during the term of the so-called "Bailey" report on long-range planning for the Township schools, the report prepared under the direction of Herbert Bailey and published in May, 1964. This is the report that advocated construction of a Township high school if merger with the Borough could not be effected.

Mr. Grace said that the membership of the new Citizens' Advisory Committee would be announced in the next ten days.

FOUR ARE INJURED

In Washington Road mishap, two Graduate School students received lacerations requiring sutures and two other youths were less severely injured when their cars collided on Washington Road at 1:30 a.m. Saturday at the intersection of the R.O.T.C. driveway. Both cars had to be towed away.

Most seriously injured was Olegom Ometate, 26, of the Graduate College, one of the drivers. He was admitted to Princeton Hospital for treatment of a possible concussion.

A laceration on his forehead required three sutures. Passenger in Mr. Ometate's Volkswagen sedan, Charles Kauranen, 20, also of the Graduate College received seven sutures to close a laceration of his forehead.

The second driver was David J. Miskie, 21, of Willingboro. He and his passenger, Jack Lewis, 19, of Willow Grove, Pa., received bruises.

Police said the Ometate car had stopped on Washington Road to turn left into the R.O.T.C. driveway. It proceeded into the path of the Miskie car coming in the opposite direction. Police charged Mr. Ometate with failing to yield.

Two Cyclists Hit. Two cyclists were injured in the near last week.

he shattered with his head when he struck late last Wednesday afternoon on Bayard Lane at Hodge. He was treated at Princeton Hospital for a blow on the head and lacerations and bruises. One cut on his left forearm required three sutures.

According to the police report, young David was struck by a car driven by Tibor Gonda, 36, of Plainfield, when he came out of Hodge through a red light. Police made no charges.

Saturday at 5:35, Elliot S. Treanor, 16, of Valley Road, was treated at the hospital for minor bruises, after being knocked from his bike to the pavement on Wiggins Street.

Police said the youth was riding on Wiggins and had turned to go into Jefferson Road, into the path of a car driven by Mrs. Doris W. Nini, 57, 56 Balducci Drive. At the direction of Special Officer Anthony Manganello, Mrs. Nini transported the boy to the hospital. There were no charges.

TRENTON YOUTH NABBED

In Car, Wallops Theft Last Week alone, the Berks police docket contained no fewer than seven reports of stolen cars. Most were recovered a few days later.

Two were spotted between 4 and 4:30 a.m. Thursday in separate locations by Ptl. Russell Shandice. A third was uncovered Saturday as a result of some fine police work and intuition by Ptl. Anthony Romano. His efforts set in motion a subsequent trap which resulted in the arrest eight hours later of two Trenton men.

One was Jerome Rucker, 28, who was charged with possession of a stolen auto and larceny. Rucker had also been charged with stealing 11 wallets from a temporary dormitory section on the third floor of the Elm Club, which had been prepared for women visitors to the club over the weekend. After a preliminary hearing Monday before Borough Magistrate Theodore F. Tams Jr., Rucker was sent to the Mercer County Jail pending action by a Grand Jury.

Rucker's 17-year-old companion was charged with juvenile delinquency and taken to the juvenile section of the County Jail, pending action by a juvenile court. Both were employed as kitchen helpers at the Elm Club, police said.

The investigation began when Ptl. Ranfone, directing traffic at Oden and Prospect at 3:30, noticed three suspicious-looking men coming from the William Street parking lot. Upon investigation he noticed that the vent window of the car they had just entered from had been broken. A check later revealed that it had been stolen in Trenton.

Taking part in the arrest at 9 that evening were Lt. Francis Maguire, Detective Theodore Lewis, Ptl. Charles Harris and Ptl. Ranfone.

At Recording for the Blind. The newly remodeled quarters of Recording for the Blind, Inc. will be open for public inspection on Sunday, November 10, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. The new facilities, including four recording booths which have been enlarged and re-equipped, are located at 100 Stockton Street.

During the past year, 283 volunteer readers have produced 14,000 records representing 197 complete books in 2381 hours. Those recordings are made without charge to any blind student or professional person requesting them.

Other sets of records are on file in the library of the central office in New York, where they are available on loan to optically handicapped persons free of charge.

More volunteers are always needed, either for reading or handling the editing, monitoring and making of Braille record labels. Interviews may be made by personal visit or by calling 921-6534. Readers will be asked to take a taped voice test in Princeton which is judged by a panel in New York. Money for these services, amounting to $17,000 annually, is raised by contri-

Possible Routes for I-95?

"The location for Interstate Route 95 is not yet been established."

Following a meeting held on September 30 by the Princeton Citizens' Committee on I-95, the Highway Department said once again: "no decision yet."

Highway Commissioner Dwight Palmer and chief engineer James R. Schuyler met with James C. Sayre and John A. McPhee, co-chairmen of the Citizens' Committee and spent an agreeable evening talking about possible routes for the highway. A detailed account and a map appear on pages 44 and 45 of this week's issue.

Highlights: The Federal Bureau of Public Roads likes to see highways go through the center of towns, so "better be careful" of Nassau Street — as a corridor state, New Jersey has a special problem meeting its responsibilities without sacrificing its attractiveness — the Reading Railroad may present the best I-95 route.

HARSANYI CONDUCTS
Chamber Orchestra Plays.
On Monday night the Princeton Chamber Orchestra under the direction of Nicholas Harsanyi, presented its first concert of the current season at McCarter Theatre. The program included the Concerto Grosso in A minor for two Violins and Orchestra, Op. 3, No. 8, by Vivaldi, "Verklarte Nacht" by Schonberg, Haydn's Symphony No. 45 in B Major and the Concerto for Piano, Strings and Trumpet, Op. 35 by Shostakovich. Helen Kwiatwasser and Gabriel Banat were violin soloists in the Vivaldi, and Eugene List and Robert Nigle were must soloists on piano and trumpet respectively in the Shostakovich concerto. As far as the program was concerned, it is this writer's opinion that it was the best balanced and most enjoyable one that Mr. Harsanyi has given to date. Equally high praise must go to the direction and individual solo performances as well as the total finiquity of the ensemble.

Conducting the program from memory, Mr. Harsanyi led his forces in a most moving and artful performance of the Vivaldi Concerto. The balance of the strings against the two solo violins was always secure and the interpretation one of sensitivity and great feeling. The tempo was always right and the dramatic shading in each movement in keeping with the composer's design. Following the Vivaldi came an interpretation of Arnold Schonberg's "Verklarte Nacht" that was totally absorbing for this listener. Schonberg originally conceived this work for String Sextet and later orchestrated for large string orchestra. Though the forces at Mr. Harsanyi's command could not be considered large, the performance by the ensemble was one of smoldering clarity and cohesiveness. This is not easy to accomplish in a piece that runs for almost a half an hour; a work filled with continual development, constant climaxes, extreme chromaticism and brilliant polyphonic writing. It was one of Mr. Harsanyi's greatest conducting achievements, marvelously performed to the last detail by the Princeton ensemble.

The string orchestra, now in its second full year, appears to be even better than ever. The cello section, for one, is much improved and produces a big warm sound. The leadership of each section seems stronger this year. Miss Tullie's addition to the orchestra as first chair viola is noteworthy in this respect.

The vocals, in addition to their large tonal sound, have a definitive personal quality as well. Balance and intonation, a prerequisite for any orchestra of professional standard, is now surpassed by a firm conception of musical feeling and tonal brilliance, that mark the truly outstanding ensembles of the day.

After the intermission came a performance of Haydn's Symphony No. 45 in B. This was perhaps the one letdown of the evening. Whether it was due to the powerful impression made by the performance of "Verklarte Nacht" or to the lackluster pace of the music, the symphony seemed to drag in tempo and in spirit.

Mr. Harsanyi performed this lovely little work about three years ago with an orchestra not nearly the calibre of this present one, but the impression received then was much more striking for the interpretation appeared lighter and sweeter than the one heard Monday night.

The final work however was sheer delight. It wasn't profound or meant to be, but Shostakovich's slyly witty and sardonic received a simply marvelous rendition by Mr. Eugene List at the keyboard and Robert Nigle on the trumpet. The new piano received its first public audition and the investment has paid for itself in spades. It is a superb line-

strument with the clear and pronounced treble that was totally lacking in the instrument.

The concert gave renewed evidence in the excellent quality of the Princeton Chamber Orchestra, and a personal triumph for its conductor, whose interpretations were thoroughly convincing, highly spiced, and musically rewarding.

THEFT REPORT

Wristwatch Taken. Margaret Loveless, 26, Witherspoon Street, told Borough police Saturday that her $75 wristwatch had been stolen from her room at Princeton Hospital. Also taken, she said, was $2 from her wallet.

Two days earlier, Elaine Kell,

Lambert House, a technician at Princeton Hospital, told police that four spoke-type hubcaps had been stolen from her car while it was parked in the hospital lot on Franklin Avenue. She valued them at $50.

On Sunday, Miss Betty Biedeloch of Centenary College called police to report that her purse had been taken Friday evening from a room in Tiger Inn, 48 Prospect Avenue. It contained $5 and personal papers, she said.

Plate Window Smash. In one of two acts of vandalism last week reported by the police, a wine by ten-foot plate glass window of the Forer Pharmacy, 160 Witherspoon Street, was shattered by a brick. Police said the incident occurred shortly after 10 Saturday night.

Matthew Glinka, manager of the Cottage Club, 31 Prospect Avenue, called police Sunday to report that during the previous night all four tires of his small foreign car had been punctured with an ice pick. It had been parked on Roper Lane, a private road which runs adjacent to the club.

PROFESSOR TO SPEAK

On Communism in Asia. Dr. Cyril E. Black, Duke Professor of Russian History at Princeton University, will address the American Association of University Women next Wednesday at 8:15 at the Riverside School, Prospect and Riverside Drive. His topic will be "Communism in Asia."

Members and guests are invited to attend the meeting. Hostesses will be Mrs. Milton Pellivier, Mrs. John Piazza, Mrs. Vaughn Culler, Mrs. Henry Kumagai and Miss Elvira Jones.

PARENTS TO MEET

To Discuss Reading. "Learning to Read - A Responsibility of the Home and the School" is the topic of a discussion to be held next Monday at 3 p.m. at the Nassau Street School for parents of kindergarten and first grade children.

Classroom teachers will be present as well as Mrs. Patricia Stove, language arts specialist; Mrs. Alice J. Brees, speech therapist; Donald Clark, school psychologist; and Miss Mildred Kaplan, school nurse.

TO DISCUSS RUSSIA
At Friday Club. The Friday Club, previously known as the Senior Citizens of the YWCA, will hold a program on Russia Friday at 12:30 in the lounge at the Y. Mrs. Paul Lyness will provide slides and commentary. The program will follow a light luncheon to which all older women in the Prince-

DRIVER FINED $185
For Leaving Accident Scene.
William H. Young, 29, 2174-C Halsey Street, was fined $100 and $5 court costs last week by Township Magistrate Glen B. Miller Jr. for leaving the scene of an accident.
Borough Magistrate Theodore F. Tams Jr., levied $10 court cost fines Monday on Bobby J. Love, 23, and Frank McCoy, 32, both no address. Each had pleaded guilty to using loud and abusive language late Saturday evening in the Colonial Restaurant, Witherspoon and Spring Streets.
Theodore F. Tams, 31, 86 Sprague Street paid $12 for a "red light" violation. He denied the charge.

Two Princeton area drivers have had their licenses suspended by the Division of Motor Vehicles.

Thomas N. McLaughlin, 19, 24 Lafayette Street, Hopewell, lost his license 90 days for speeding. John T. Warner, 20, Line Road, Belle Mead, surrendered his for 40 days under the point system.

PTL KAHNY TO RESIGN
On November 13, Ptl. Harry C. Kahny, 31, Millstone River Apartments, has written a letter of resignation to Chief Peter J. McCrohan. A member of the Borough Police Department since March 16, 1957, Ptl. Kahny will call it a career on November 13.

For the last six or seven years, Ptl. Kahny has been assigned to parking meter enforcement. "He has done an excellent job for us in this capacity," said Chief McCrohan. "We think very highly of him in the department and we hate to see him go."

Chief McCrohan pointed out that Ptl. Kahny did more than just issue tickets. His cycle was equipped with police radio and McCrohan said, "Harry was on top of every emergency call. That's one reason why I always want to have him in the center of town."

"Within this field, he has done a very good job for us," continued Chief McCrohan. "He is reliable, dependable and we seldom got complaints about him. Oh, we got some, sure, but in most cases those making them later admitted they were at fault."

Ptl. Kahny will leave the force to work for his father-in-law. He will be associated with the Ancon Construction Corporation and Ancon Realty in Cranbury.

FATHERS TO MEET, EAT
At Littlebrook School, Lloyd Taylor, Littlebrook School principal, has issued an invitation to fathers of school children to attend a continental breakfast with him at the school on Election Day next.

CITIZENS FOR GOOD GOVERNMENT

TO THE RESIDENTS OF PRINCETON:

We hope you will be among the thousands of Princeton citizens who will vote this coming election day, November 2, 1965.

We, the undersigned, are a group of citizens interested in the cause of providing the best local government possible. It is our considered opinion that, this year, the cause of good local government can best be served by voting for those candidates who are being supported by the Republican Party in both Princeton Borough and Township.

In Princeton Borough, Mayor Henry S. Patterson is running for re-election on a record of solid achievement. Among the many projects started or completed during his current administration are such important matters as: the new public library, two new public parking lots, the "Dilley" report and plans for a new Borough Hall.

Councilmen William Walker and Alfred Sorenson, also running for re-election, have provided the Borough with sound and effective guidance for many years. They have made outstanding contributions in the field of public works, police protection and traffic and parking planning. Running for Tax Collector is Captain Geoffrey Sage, who is widely known for his dedication as Director of the Joint Civil Defense Committee, and as a Consultant for the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission.

In Princeton Township, Carl Schafer, Jr. is seeking re-election as a Committeeman. His running mate, Burton Peskin is a lawyer and the other candidate for Township Committee. We are confident both these men will continue to provide increased services for the Township, just as the present committee has completed plans for the Community Park Recreation area, and has acquired significant tracts of open space under the Green Acres Program.

We endorse these six candidates as the best qualified men for Princeton. We will vote for them on November 2nd.

Whether you are a Democrat, Independent or Republican, we urge you to vote for these men and insure good government to guide Princeton's future.

Tuesday. Following the breakfast they will have an opportunity to visit classrooms from 8:50 to 9:30.

The LittleRock PTA is sponsoring the program. Mrs. William Enders and Mrs. William Angstadt are serving as directors and Mrs. Fernand Baruch, Mrs. Quentin Lyle, Mrs. Pierce Hunter and Mrs. Donald McGill are in charge of arrangements.

WIWH WINS AWARD

For Programming. The New Jersey Broadcaster's Association has presented WIWH radio station with its SSESAC Community Service Award for "imaginative and effective public service programming." It was presented this month at the annual New Jersey broadcaster's convention held in Merriam.

Richard Standish, the station's News and Public Affairs Director, was responsible for the documentary on the Jersey Pines which received first prize. A Rutgers graduate, he has been on the station's news staff since 1964. He received for his program in the Pine Barrens of Burlington and Ocean Counties, where he recorded interviews with residents.

At the same convention, announcement was made that WIWH Vice-President and General Manager David A. Moss, who refuses as President of the New Jersey Broadcaster's Association this December, was elected to the executive board of the state association.

TO EXHIBIT ART

By Elizabeth Ruggles, the work of Elizabeth Ruggles, artist and teacher, will go on exhibition this Sunday for two weeks at the gallery of The Queenstown Shop, Pennington. There will be a reception from 2 until 5.

Miss Ruggles has exhibited widely, most recently at the Phillips Mill show near New Hope. She is particularly known for her "Friday Market of Art," varied programs of discussion, slide lectures, sketching and demonstrations. Now a member of the graphic arts department of Health, Miss Ruggles taught in Yardley, Pa., for five years prior to her current classes at The Queenstown Shop.

GRAPHICS SHOW OPENS

This Saturday. The Princeton Art Association is sponsoring a month-long exhibition, "Graphic Arts, the Art of Printmaking," at McCarter Theatre, beginning this Saturday. Charles McViekers, a member of the board, is in charge of arrangements.

The etchings, woodcuts and lithographs are available for purchase, prices ranging from $17 to $100. A number of prints have been put out for exhibition by the Philadelphia Print Club. Artists include Jacob Lawrence, Stephen Martin, Chaim Koppelman, Sydney his guidance.

Goodman, Helen Segal, Benton Spruance and Berion Wasserman. Prints may be obtained through Mrs. Lucy McViekers (924-2660).

Other Plans. A second print show, featuring the work of PAA members, has been hung at Association headquarters, 14 Nassau Street. Mrs. Harold Eubank is in charge.

Chaim Koppelman, president of the American Society of Graphic Arts, is scheduled to give a talk on "Aesthetic Realism in Printmaking" at 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday, November 17, at PAA headquarters. Mr. Koppelman, currently head of the printmaking department of the School of Visual Arts, New York City, is a member of a New York artists' group involved in the philosophy of aesthetic realism founded by Eli Segal. He is the recipient of many honors and awards, and his work is in the permanent collections of major museums. His talk is open to PAA members and their guests, with a slight admission charge to defray expenses.

CHILD SINGERS WANTED

(Under 5'2") Princeton Opera Association has sent out a call for a dozen singing mopets with strong voices for its Christmas production of "Hansel and Gretel." Auditions are scheduled for 1 p.m. this Saturday and 7:30 p.m. next Thursday, November 5, in the Princeton Seminary auditorium, located in the student center. The children are wanted for the chorus.

Plans call for seven or eight performances of the opera to be given in Princeton, Trenton and New Brunswick. There will be three full casts for each part, insuring a maximum of three performances for each cast.

Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Donald Ferrell (923-9700) or Mrs. Frank Schley (924-2148 after Thursday).

ORGANIST TO PLAY

In Miller Chapel, Robert Baker, concert organist and Dean of School of Sacred Music at Union Seminary, New York City, will give a recital Tuesday at 7:45 p.m. in Miller Chapel on the campus of Princeton Theological Seminary. The public is invited.

Works by Roger, Boyce, Saint-Saens, Brahms, Beethoven, Robert, Walcott, Bloch, Gernsbach and Vierne will be on Dr. Baker's program.

In addition to teaching and playing, Dr. Baker works as consultant in the field of organ architecture. New organ in Philadelphia Hall of Lincoln Landau, Stephen Martin, New York, were built under

BUSINESS In Princeton

UP AND UP
Index for Summer. In spite of a seasonal drop here and there, the TOWN TOPICS index of Princeton (in Princeton) continues to improve sharply, especially without the slightest sign of being wiped.

Checking accounts were indexed off by 11% from the spring quarter last year; they were only 1% between spring and summer, but they were up 5% from the previous year. Perhaps the decline can be traced to the up-surge in savings accounts; less spending by check, more saving.

And more borrowing, too. Loans continue to climb, but not with alarming sharpness. A significant 23% increase from quarter to quarter has become decline. New sales were down a significant 23% although here again, there is an increase over the time last year.

Summering & Buying Time
Do people buy houses in the summer in Princeton Township? It would seem so. Transfers in the Township are up by 40% from the spring quarter. New house sales also showed an even sharper upswing over the spring quarter. New house sales and building permits, however, are down in the Township this quarter. Price percentage increases of 140 in the dollar value of building permits derives from the University's new graduate student housing $1,800,000.

Figures compiled by the New Jersey Department of Labor and Industry's Bureau of Statistics and Records show a decline in building permits throughout Mercer County so far this year. This is traceable chiefly to townships like Hightstown where extensive apartment building in 1964 is not being repeated this year.

Building permits in 467 of New Jersey's 567 municipalities report a down-turn of almost 14% in the number of building permits issued compared to last year; however, the number is greater than in 1963 throughout the state.

TO OPEN SPORTS STORE
On Nassau Street, Variety Sport Shop is to open this Thursday at 124 Nassau Street, occupying the space formerly held by Bond Cleaners, Inc.

The owner, Steven R. Spiegel, has spent a fair portion of his life in the sporting goods business, at his family's gun and ammunition store in Plainfield. He is a June graduate of Syracuse University.

The completely remodeled store carries a full line of items, from the sports-minded, "everything from restringing tennis rackets to guns and ammunition," Mr. Spiegel says. (See advertisement, page 49.)

McGRAW TO EXPAND
Completion Early in '67, McGraw-Hill's Princeton Hightstown Road has announced it will expand its facilities by constructing a new office building and expanding of its book warehouse. Construction is expected early in 1967.

To be located on the south side of Princeton Road, adjacent to the present Book Distribution Center, the new office building will house all personnel engaged in book

CONTROLLER TO RETIRE

From First National Bank, Roy J. Combs will retire at the end of this month after 17 years of service as Controller of The First National Bank of Princeton. He and his wife plan to spend their retirement years in Leesburg, Florida.

Mr. Combs was associated with Lyndon Bank National & Trust Company on Long Island for 29 years before joining the staff of First National in 1948. A resident of Cranbury, he has been active in community and church affairs.

RECEIVES AWARD

At Textile Convention, Robert F. Schwencer Jr., associate research director at Textile Research Institute, has received the 15th annual American Dyestuff Reporter Award at the National Convention of the American Association of Textile Chemists and Colorists held this month in Chicago.

The award is presented annually to the author of a paper in the American Dyestuff Reporter judged to be best in terms of scientific content and clarity. Mr. Schwencer's paper, co-authored with two others, is entitled "Applications of Differential Thermal Analysis and Dynamic Thermogravimetric Analysis in Textile Research."

ATTEND CONVENTION

Of Mobil Dealers, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Leight, 235 Birch Avenue, attended the Mobil Dealer Convention held last week at the Concord Hotel, Kiamesha Lake, N. Y. Approximately 1,000 Mobil dealers and their wives attended. Mr. Leight is co-owner of Fete and Mike's Mobil Service, 171 Bayard Lane.

FLY TO LAS VEGAS

For Houslog Tour, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eimer Jr., of 246 Shady Brook Lane, flew to Las Vegas, Nev. last week with 130 other members of the New Jersey Home Builders Association for an inspection and study tour of housing construction in the southwest.

The tour was arranged by the Association's educational excursion committee. Its purpose is to study construction techniques, architectural design and special features used by builders in the Southwest.

PHYSICIST JOINS RCA

Added to Research Staff, Dr. W. Michael DeLois, a specialist in solid state physics, has been named to the research staff of RCA Laboratories at the David Sarnoff Research Center.

Dr. DeLois, a graduate of Stanford University and a recipient of M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard, is a member of the American Physical Society and Sigma Xi. He lives at 52 New Road in Kenilworth.

How To Care For Your Carpet

Beautiful carpet is one of the home's most important furnishings and the foundation of any room's decorating scheme. Since the investment in a sturdy, attractive carpet is no important one, it is simply "good sense" to understand certain things about care and maintenance, so you may enjoy your carpet for years to come.

Carpet is usually subject to more wear and less care than any other home furnishing. Foot often these facts are overlooked.

At doorways, foot traffic which fans out all over a room, concentrates and is concentrated into an area not more than 18 inches wide. Chairs which remain in the same position for extended periods, force a concentration of wear from the movement of seated persons, and particularly the abrasive action of their heels. Habitual television viewing from a favorite chair especially concentrates carpet wear.

Entrances to a room from outdoors subjects carpet to a high concentration of traffic and soilage. Frequent use of this soilage is accompanied by moisture.

The professional carpet cleaner is best qualified to service your needs for general soil removal. He has the proper equipment, the developed technique and the experience required to help keep your carpets new looking longer.

An Open Letter to the Princeton Community From Princeton University

Residents in the Princeton area have a natural interest in the development of the University and the kinds of buildings the University constructs. In appreciation of this, I am writing to try to provide an understanding of the broad basis of our planning for the future physical development of the University, of some of the principal problems to be surmounted, and especially of the forces which push some of the University's new structures up in the air.

Much as some of us might wish it, the University cannot lock itself behind its doors and remain always the same. Slow, planned growth in enrollments and staff over the past two decades has rendered some of the University's buildings (for example, the gymnasium) too small for current requirements. In mathematics and physics, the same history combines with the mounting needs of our times for increased numbers of holders of advanced degrees and for even more vigorous research activity in these fields in which Princeton is particularly strong. It is the University's obligation to the nation to respond to such calls for service—not in a mass way, but in a controlled manner with prime emphasis upon quality. Central in this endeavor, as we see it, must be the maintenance of effective inter-relationships within the University.

Besides Peyton Hall, the new building for Astrophysical Sciences, the University now is in the process of construction or on the drawing boards three large additions to her plant: the Jadwin Gymnasium (south of Palmer Stadium), housing for married graduate students (south of the Springdale Golf Course), and a vast building for interdisciplinary development for the Departments of Mathematics and Physics (to be located between Palmer Stadium and Guyot Hall). These plans are the result of prolonged and careful studies, and these studies have forced us to the conclusion that two of these buildings should rise up high, rather than be allowed to sprawl out to consume the limited amounts of open space in what are clearly the most advantageous sites in each instance.

Specifically, the architects for the mathematics portion of the Math-Physics project (the firm of Warner Burns Ton Lauer) have developed plans for a building with a 13-story tower to house the now scattered and badly crowded Department of Mathematics, to keep it close to the Department of Physics, and to keep both of these departments in walking range of the central campus. Likewise, the first phase of 150 units in the eventual grouping of some 600 units of married graduate student housing, designed by the firm of Fischer, Nes, Campbell & Associates, includes a 13-story building. Placed on the low ground south of the Golf Course, it will, in combination with a number of garden apartments, permit the creation of a park-like atmosphere at that site and begin to alleviate the critical shortage of housing for our married graduate students.

The University's master-plan for its campus and physical facilities has been developed over the years to advance the educational objectives of the University and, at the same time, to preserve the largest possible amount of green space for the enjoyment of both the academic community and the general community of Princeton. The remain primary aims of our planning. But, though the fact will surprise many, today the University faces a marked shortage of land on which to sustain these aims within the Borough and Township of Princeton.

In significant measure this is because Princeton is both a residential university and a university on foot. This means that its faculty and students must be able to walk or bicycle between any two classrooms or laboratory buildings during the interval between classes. Sound educational policy dictates, we believe, that we remain a university, not a scattered collection of parts. An example of the great importance the University attaches to the location of buildings was the moving of Corwin Hall to provide a site for the expanding graduate program of the Woodrow Wilson School so that the latter can develop in close and effective relation to the other academic departments and the main library collections of the University. Of course, the new building could have been placed down by Lake Carnegie but the real losses in any such separation would have been great indeed.

Proximity among the parts of the University is not simply a matter of convenience for students or faculty. It affects schedules and shapes, sometimes even determines, programs of study. As experience elsewhere has shown repeatedly, when a student has a class in a remote building, he is prevented from scheduling many courses in the periods immediately before and after that appointment. In terms of thousands of students over a period of years, the resulting inefficiency and impairment of the educational program assume larger and more serious proportions. For the faculty, too, there is a serious loss if they are isolated by departments at excessive distances.

As a university, Princeton is fortunate in having still a single faculty teaching on both the graduate and undergraduate levels and one in which there continue to be many interconnections and cooperative ventures across departmental lines. It is, in my view, of great importance to sustain and reinforce these connections and not simply give away to the splintering tendencies that are so strong in the intellectual life and culture of our times.

For the same reason, in a residential university, housing for faculty and students in reasonable proximity to the central campus is important. So, also, is the preservation of broad tracts of land for whatever still unseen developments future decades and future generations may find it right and necessary to add to the Princeton of today. The site chosen for the married graduate dormitories is the only one, in the Township, short of cutting into the golf course itself, where the number of housing units we shall need can be developed on University land within bicycling range of the main campus.

(Parenthetically, but emphatically, I would point out that the University not only pays taxes on married graduate student dormitories, but also that it is the only taxpayer in the community which guarantees to the Township School Board coverage of full educational costs if the total tuitions for school-age children in its apartment buildings exceed the revenue allocated to school costs from taxes on these units.)

It is highly desirable in our view to group married graduate students and their families into a community of their own. In contrast to the Butler Tract on Harrison Street, however, we think that the new housing for graduate students should offer open space and trees and grass at the level at which people move about and children play, rather than structures that eat up the ground like regimented barracks. These, then, are the principal reasons which underlie the decision to erect the new housing facilities for married graduate students on the low ground which begins several hundred yards to the south of the Springdale Golf Course, and the decision to include some high-rise buildings in that development.

There are a number of ways of looking at a university. One view is that of the passer-by who tends to look at its total bulk. Another is the approach from a distance which attracts the eye to the skyline. A third is that of the people who live and study and teach on the campus, or who visit and stroll about to enjoy its grace. The last view puts a high value on open space between buildings, on pleasing vistas, on trees and lawns and shrubs. It is this view of the Princeton campus which we seek to preserve and enhance, both for the effectiveness of the University's total educational program and for the enjoyment of the total Princeton community.

So, the dilemma for the University is clear: pressures to grow, pressures to retain a park-like campus, including playing fields readily accessible to the community and much used by many of the local residents and their children. It is impractical to resolve the dilemma by burrowing underground—or, at least, by trying to burrow very far. (The University will be going underground for several floors of the Math-Physics complex, just as it did for the Firestone Library.) The answer is that we have to go up.

Let anyone imagine that we foresee a university cluttered with lowering structures, let me assure you that we do not. Right now the new administrative building seems to rise starkly at the south of the campus. But, so did Guyot Hall when it was first completed, and people even raised loud protests at the time. And just as it did, Guyot now blends with their surroundings, will New South in time fit into a redesigned and landscaped area we plan to create around it as a principal, southern entrance to the campus.

The considerations which I have outlined and the compelling conclusions to which they have forced us were presented to a meeting of officials of both Princeton Borough and Township more than 18 months ago. Since then, as our studies have gone forward and as plans have begun to take specific shape, we have sought to keep the Township Committee and Planning Board members fully informed.

Whenever plans have been carried sufficiently forward to be formally approved by the University's Board of Trustees, they have been made available to the public in the local public as well. This has now been done, for example, in the case of the Jadwin Gymnasium and the apartments for married graduate students. In the case of the plans for the Mathematics and Physics complex, this final decision within the University has yet to be reached. We expect that it will be shortly and that sketches of this prospective, large, and important development can be released to the press and the public soon thereafter.

As indicated earlier in this letter, the guiding principles, for which above all we have sought the understanding of the local authorities, are (1) that close, effective relationships among its parts are fundamental to the whole enterprise of the University and (2) that open, green expanses at the level where people walk and move about make for a pleasant, human campus and one which is beneficial to the whole community. I trust that the community at large will grasp the importance of these principles to the University and to the community, both now and in the years to come.

Obituaries

Lewis V. Thomas, 51, of 133 Prospect Street, died October 21 in Princeton Hospital after a lengthy illness. One of America's foremost experts on Turkey, he was a professor in the oriental studies department at Princeton University. Dr. Thomas, before his illness, was working on a history of the Ottoman Empire, which he hoped would serve as both a textbook and as a volume of general interest. His specialty was in the history of languages in the modern Near East and the Ottoman Empire.

He taught at Robert College in Istanbul before and after World War I. During the war he worked with several United States government agencies in the Turkish capital. Since coming to Princeton in 1949, he made a number of visits to Turkey, the last in 1962.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Ethel N. Thomas who is college placement counselor at Princeton High School, and son, Glen H. Thomas, a sophomore at Stanford University. A memorial service was held for Dr. Thomas in the University Chapel, Dean Bravel Gordon officiating. Arrangements were made by the Kimball

Funeral Home, with interment at the convenience of the family.

Mrs. Barbara M. Benson, 57, died on October 21 at her home, 771 Loomis Court. She was the widow of Edward G. Benson, head of the Gallup Poll research department until his death in 1948.

Mrs. Benson was formerly an associate editor of the Ladies Home Journal. A graduate of the University of Iowa, with a master's degree in journalism from Columbia University, Mrs. Benson served successively as woman's editor of the Mason City [Ia.] Globe Gazette, as a researcher for Young & Rubicam, as McCall's first director of magazine reader research, and as associate director of Audience Research, Inc., a firm specializing in testing for motion picture producers. She joined the Ladies Home Journal in 1949 as associate editor, a post she held for three years ago. She was married to Mr. Benson late Mrs. Dia B. Miller, elected in 1952 to the first office of terms as secretary of state for Iowa, and the late Alex Miller.

HEADMASTER HONORED

For 15 years of leadership, the Board of Trustees of the Hun School paid tribute to Paul R. Chesebro, headmaster of the school for the past 15 years, at its first quarterly meeting of the school year. A resolution passed unanimously read: "In recognition of his personal dedication to the school, his dedication to the needs and aspirations of youth, his insight into the demands of continued excellence in the education of Hun School students, his devotion to the total task of rebuilding the Hun School of Princeton, his outstanding leadership in the past and for the future, be it hereby resolved, that the Academic Center completed in 1964 be from this day forth known as the Paul Ridgely Chesebro Academic Center, and that a suitably inscribed plaque be placed in a conspicuous location in the building, with an appropriate ceremony for the occasion of its dedication, so that the present and future generations may be made aware of the debt of gratitude they owe to this outstanding educator."

No date has been set yet for dedication of the new facility, but it will be within the current school year.

GOBLINS ARE COMING

In the Parade. The annual Halloween parade will be held at 7 p.m. this Saturday, followed by a party and prizes at the Nassau Street School. The parade forms at 6:45 p.m. in the Chambers Street parking lot, and the line of march is down Nassau Street to the school.

The service was held at Trinity Episcopal Church, the Rev. Robert R. Spears, rector, officiating. Interment was in Princeton Cemetery under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

The Rev. Arthur M. Shenell, 73, of Washington Court House, O., former pastor of Princeton Methodist Church, died of leukemia on October 19 at Ohio State University Hospital, Columbus. He was the husband of Mrs. Marion B. Shenell.

The Rev. Mr. Shenell was a pastor of the Methodist Church here and director of the Wesley Foundation at Princeton. He was born in 1926 to 1929. A graduate of Allegheny College and the Boston University School of Theology, he held pastorates in New Brunswick, Cleveland, Cincinnati, and Columbus, Ohio, and elsewhere. He retired in 1957 after serving the First Methodist Church, Lorain, O., for nine years. At the time of his death he was pastor of a church of Ohio churches.

Also surviving are a daughter, William Watkins of Fairmont, W. Va.; a son, Arthur, of Princeton, N.J.; five grandchildren, three brothers and a sister.

A native of Ohio, he died at Grace Methodist Church, Washington Court House.

Grant J. Broughton of Warner, N. H., formerly of Princeton, died October 20 at Warner. Mr. Broughton was a former New Jersey state legislator. He was the husband of Mrs. Henrietta V. Broughton. Also surviving are four sons, Grant Jr., Peter, David and John; a daughter, Winnie, all at home; two sisters, Mary Ann of Warner, and a sister, Mrs. Fred Cappel.

The service was held in St. Mary's Church. Interment was in Princeton Cemetery.

Mrs. Mary S. Dennis, 85, died October 20 at her home, 248 Stockton Street, Hightstown. The widow of George P. Dennis, she was editor and publisher of the Hightstown Gazette.

Mrs. Dennis took over management of the paper after the death of her husband. He had been in charge for 43 years prior to his death.

Born in Wall Township, Mrs. Dennis was a Highstown resident for 35 years. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church and the American Legion Auxiliary Gold Star Mothers.

Surviving are two sons, W. Palmer Dennis, who assumes the editorial duties of the Gazette, and Edward P. Dennis; three daughters, Mrs. M. J. Williams of Clark, N. J., and the Misses Kathryn and Elizabeth Dennis, both of Hightstown; two grandchildren, the Rev. David T. Dennis, of the Presbyterian Church officiating. Interment was in Glendora Cemetery.

Miss Eleanor Thomas, 58, of 38 Pine Drive, Roosevelt, died October 20 in Princeton Hospital.

Mrs. Thomas was a retired school teacher, having taught for many years at P.S. 28 in Brooklyn. She came to live with her sister, Miss Marian Thomas, when she retired four years ago.

Requiem high mass was celebrated in St. Anthony's Church, Hightstown. Interment was in St. Charles Cemetery, Brooklyn.

Joseph Violi, Sr., 66, of 6 Tamara Drive, Roosevelt, died October 20 in Princeton Hospital. He was the husband of Mrs. Ann M. Violi.

Born in Italy, Mr. Violi lived in Roosevelt for 26 years. He worked as a tailor for a Hosiery Company in Princeton.

Also surviving are a son, Joseph, of Princeton; a daughter, Mrs. Richard Bennett of Fort Hood, Tex.; four grandchildren; and three brothers and two sisters in Italy.

Requiem high mass was celebrated at St. Anthony's Church, Hightstown, by the Rev. Father J. J. Lourd.

Rosario Matassi, 87, died on October 19 at his home, 38 Henry Avenue, after a brief illness. He was the husband of Mrs. Almedina P. Matassi.

A native of Italy, Mr. Matassi was a Princeton resident for 58 years. He was employed in the grounds and buildings department of Princeton for 22 years, retiring in 1946.

Also surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Louis Zalivno of Princeton; a son, Joseph, of Princeton; and several grandchildren.

High requiem mass was celebrated at St. Paul's Church. Interment was in the parish cemetery under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Janis Mergina, 70, of the Lincoln Highway, Kingston, died October 25 while at work in Princeton. She was a primary.

A native of Latvia, he had lived in this area for the past 15 years. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Anna Latushnevic; two sons, Andrei and Gert; two grandchildren; and two sisters in Latvia.

The service will be held Thursday at 2 in the Winifred Funeral Chapel. Interment will be in Ewing Church Cemetery.

MANCHESTER REJECTS FLUORINATION

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT

MANCHESTER, Oct. 6

Plans to add fluoride to Manchester's water supply were rejected by the council today after a debate lasting an hour and a half. Instead, motions were passed to ask the water board to be able to add fluoride tablets from the corporation's health department. Calling for the tablet scheme, Alderman Owens said mass water supply was old-fashioned, unsatisfactory, unethical, unhygienic and uneconomic. "It is a form of dictatorship," he said.

The plan to add fluoride to the water, put forward by the health committee, was defeated after an amendment suggesting the tablet scheme was passed by 34 votes to 25.

A FLIGHT OF WILD GESE

Feeding at the water's edge, the Princeton crew skimming by at twilight, and, in December, the graceful silhouette of skaters against the snow. From the comfort of a fur-lined chair, from the dining table, from bed, and even from the kitchen sink, you can enjoy the ever-changing panorama of Lake Carnegie from season to season. Every room in this intriguing contemporary shares the same priceless lake-framed view. Versatile floor plan would suit a retired couple as well as a large family. No other like it in Princeton.

Additional $500 is presented to the sponsoring organization.

This is the first time Triangle has won the BMI award, although it received honorable mention in 1962 for "Tour de Fare". Mr. Schaeffer and Mr.
Kerry think the forthcoming
"High Sobriety" will be another winner.

Asked about all that prize money, Mr. Schaeffer said, "It comes to about 2c an hour."

Judges this year were producers Morton DaCosta, Alexander Cohen, Hillard Ekins, Lawrence Kasha, Lora Noto
and Herman Shumlin; Andrew Waxler, a recording company executive, Jerry Book and Sheldon Harnick, who wrote
"Fiorello" and "Fiddler on the Roof," Tom Jones, the author of "The Fantasticks," Lelama Engel and Robert B.
Sour of BMI.

GRACE AND BING

"In Country Club," Grace
Kelly, in the role that won her an Academy Award in 1955, and Bing Crosby, in one of the best recent performances he has ever given, will star in
"The Country Club" at Mc-
Carrie Theatre Tuesday at 8.
The Clifford Odess play was written and directed for the screen by George Seaton. It tells of a Broadway singing star, alcoholic and on the down road of self - pity, who almost misses his chance at a comeback. It will appear as part of McCarrie's Golden Film series.

DIETRICH FILMS SET

By Wilson Sletsky, A pioneer talkie, "Morocco," will open the Marlene Dietrich Film Festival sponsored by the Woodrow Wilson Society. The showing is scheduled for 7:15 p.m. this Thursday in the lounge of Wilcox Hall. Admission is free.

"Morocco," Dietrich's first American film, costars Cary
Cooper. Josef von Stroheim was the director. At least two additional Dietrich films are scheduled for the series.

three one-act plays to be presented Friday and Saturday by the Princeton Players, Curtain-time is 8:30 at the Central Valley High School, Princeton.

PLAYHOUSE

Zorba the Greek (now playing). This is a fine drama of a man who took life as it came and loved it. Anthony Quinn is excellent in the title role.
The screen play, based on the novel by Nikos Kazantzakis, is episodic and sometimes seems very heavy. But most of the action is absorbing.

The first meeting between the very proper English writer played by Alan Bates and the earthy, uninhibited Greek is set off with economy and wit in a wonderfully well-played scene. The relationship of these two forms the core of the entire film.

Other strong and likeable characters include Irene Papas, as the handsome widow who spurs the advances of a village youth, but succumbs to Bates and Tula Kodrova, who almost steals the film in the role of a French innkeeper out to snare Zorba.
The writer-director, Michael Cassavetes, has imaginatively used the natural settings of Crete for atmosphere and never for mere decoration. The musical score is reminiscent of "Never on Sunday."

Adultery, frigidity, prostitution and homosexuality are the themes. The four script writers have treated, sometimes with sauce, sometimes with irony, sometimes with broad humor,
and now and again with a bit of pathos. The quality of the stories is uneven.

In "The Scandal," Nino
Manfredi, plays a man vacationing at a beach resort with his wife, Paula Franco, who is annoyed when a handsome young seems to be paying too much attention. It turns out that the fellow is more interested in Miss Franco than in the "Afternoon," Charles Ama-zi is a businessman who picks up Claire, a French girl takes her to a motel. The twist is that she is actually his wife.
The third episode, "The Victim," Monica Vitti plays an immature wife who suspects her husband of infidelity, so she goes even by seducing his best friend. This is particularly thin stuff, in which Miss Vitti lends a overcast. Elio To-skill a basically sordid story. A

BOUQUETTE

For Christmas, give your merriest Christmas shopping early next week when the Christmas Bouquette opens its glittering doors in the Prince William Room of the Nassau Inn, Tuesday and Wednesday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. each day.

The Bouquette has been assembled this year as last, by the Women's Auxiliary of Princeton Hospital for the benefit of the hospital's building fund. You'll recall that last year's Bouquette was held in Guernsey Hall. Well, success has moved it to larger quarters, so this year, it's the Nassau Inn.

Bouquette booths will be filled to the rim with the variety of specialty shops, large and small have been selected and proved by the ladies of the Bouquette committee.

Voilà of Scitoning, Connecticut, will bring the exciting European separates, table linens, glassware and gifts that have made the shop an event in its own area. Voilà is owned by two Austrian ladies, and the Viennese flair is evident in everything they buy for you to buy.

Toys, hand-made but, with no hint of "loving hands at home," are the trade and pride of Grandma's Toys, North Bedford, Vermont, and whether Grandma himself will be around to wind the clockwork, we have no idea, but we'll bet that lots of grandkids show up at the Bouquette to make secret purchases against December 25.

Shoppers buying for the home will look for The Pear Tree, of Bryn Mawr, a shop devoted to leather accessories, bright little cashes, desk gear and decorative bibelots. The Horse, of Wilmington, specializes in antique but not everything is horsey, we hasten to add: the shop is called that because one of its owners, Mrs. Richard DuPont, owns "Keel."

Anyhow, The Horse has a shrouded name of its own for terrace furniture and accessories, and what could be more fun than buying outdoor furniture in the indoor season? Or at least ordering it for warm weather.

Fine handwork will be for sale in the booths of Lavinia's of New York (renowned for linens) and Macalov, also of New York. Macalov will show hundreds of prospect and wallpaper designs and plenty of crewel, and we'll bet they're sold out before the Bouquette is over.

Brocade to Sew
Brocade is light up your lightest hosiery have just come to The Fabric Shop on Chambers Street.

Antique green-gold with blue-flecked, blue's favorite. Snowflake pattern of gold against midnight black satin is another memorable one.

Brocade is bright, white and light, choose the ivory that looks almost like more convincing with clusters of peonies and rose with sprinkles of glitter. A similar print, over-all in effect, combines shades of pink and red in a charming ball of color. Red or royal provides the background for single gold flowers. Blue is the setting for a swirl of gold festoons.

Brocade in the Chambers Street shop are 42 inches wide, priced around $3.50 for a black matelasse, to $4.50, $5.95 and $8.50.

Polly Watson of Chestnut Hill will bring her all-at-home clothes, including pants that really, really fit, those curvy little wool dresses and sweaters. Abercrombie and Fitch will show sports clothes and accessories, and Mark Cross will bring along the luggage to pick them in.

Smaller leather pieces from Mark Cross will be available as well, and both shops are expected to provide Christmas catalogs for profitable browsing.

BRING YOUR OWN HAMMER

Thorne's is busy. You really don't need to bring your hammer, because they have plenty of their own, but we do suggest that you take your next prescription to Thorne's and stay around a while to see how the store looks, now that it's past the half-way mark in its double-or-nothing expansion.

How Thorne's has been able to fill prescriptions with its customary speed and efficiency, dispense shampoo, keep the ice-cream freezer stocked, soothe anxious new mothers with a dash of baby powder and still keep sane in the midst of hammering, falling plaster and cheerful chaos, is a miracle of merchandising.

It's New To Us
You'll find, when you drop in, that the new "Turn-of-the-Century" part of the store is just about finished, and handsome it is! There's a bright lime-drug rug all over the floor, nestling up to the curving walnut cosmetic counter with its gold panel outlines, full-length glass doors and the Florentine gold "Cosmetics" sign against "marble."
"Prescription" is a big sign you'll see the minute you walk in the door. The prescription department is a broadly curving three-tier cake, with a counter for customers in front, the pharmacist in full view in the middle tier and the storehouse at the top.

Incidentally, before we leave this part of the store, let's take a look at the hazy's "Gissando" lipstick — 15 shades of marbled lipstick, if you please, marble! It does the same thing as heather yarn when you knit it; that is, blends subtly to give highlights you couldn't obtain with a solid color. We like the straight-forward nomenclature: "Pink No. 2" is one, "Amber No. 6" another. And then, try the six shades of "Gissando Illuminated" for night!
Seven shades of marbled eye color, too. You'd be devastating in Taupe No. 5. We know, because we were! By the way, the male in the cosmetic department that separates the main chowcase from an auxiliary chowcase, is five feet wide — remember the old Thorne?

Over on the other side, the "old" side where you've been countless times, Thorne's is installing a Men's Bar where a man can pick up shaving cream and cologne without tripping over the marbled eye-shade. It's a handsomely paneled alcove, all wood. We're eager to see it all finished.
There's a pale pink por. located well near by that looks suspiciously like an embryonic baby department. Right now, there are stacks of acoustical panels on the floor, but perhaps the bottles will come next of the them with a white satin bow.
The same white lace wool has been used for a sleeveless popover that goes with a —Continued on Page 33—

Juniors, Attend! It's junior's turn at Princess Shop this week, as we leave little sister in her own special part of the shop trying on Summer School dresses, and turn to the junior department where "3-15" is a state of size and not age.
Mustard gold suede, brushed into a four-pieced suit, will catch your eye and end up in your closet. Its major piece is a classic, topical, slightly A-lined with slitching to mark the waist. $70. Buy and wear it separately, or over the suit with its straight skirt, and bell-sleeved jacket lined with olive wool jersey. Brass-bound saddle buttons march down the front of the free-swinging jacket.
The blouse is olive wool jersey, too, cut with three-quarter sleeves and a soft turtle collar which turns over the round neckline of the jacket.

Here's navy with orange, olive and rust flowers like nothing you ever grew in a garden, and tendrils of creepy green. There's a deep blue defined only by narrow welting long sleeves and an optional sash.

Another, even wilder print, is orange and red with spread peacocks in yellow and blue and those same wild tendrils of lime and citron. To make up for all the gaudy, the dress is the demurest round-collar you ever saw. All these exclusive at Princess, by the way.

Jaycees Actions Questioned.

To the Editor of Town Topics: The New York Times, on October 19th, reported that the national president of the United States Jaycees, James A. Skidmore, Jr., outlined a militant program to expose "leftist" supporters of the peace movement. With the approval of the national executive committee, more than 250,000 Jaycee vigilantes in 6,000 American communities will be asked to pack teach-ins and process rallies. Inform newspapers about the presence of Communists and Socialists within peace groups and work as closely as possible with the local police and Federal Bureau of Investigation.

To what can we expect the Princeton Jaycees to participate in this distasteful project? Area residents deserve an answer to this question—before they are asked to support other Jaycee projects like the art show and football classic.

"I Count Myself Lucky."

To the Editor of Town Topics: If I may, I should like to use your columns to express my appreciation of the Princeton Hospital, an institution which, it seems to me, is too often undervalued. From February to August, I was a patient there for approximately one and a half months and underwent two major operations.

My surgeon and my surgeon know of my gratitude to him, but how am I to thank the dozens of persons who ministered to me in my rooms on the first and third floors and in the intensive care? They treated me efficiently and with a care that was more than kindness, and they were wonderfully tolerant of the eccentricities and idiosyncrasies of the patient of the body take over and good sense and patience have, for the time being, departed.

I count myself lucky to have been treated in the Princeton Hospital. It is an institution of persons who should be especially proud of.

EDWARD HUBLER

Give to UNICEF

To the Editor of Town Topics:

This year the Princeton High School students are trying a different method in their traditional UNICEF campaign. Instead of high school teenagers going from door to door, they are trying to involve younger children (grades three through eight) in sharing THEIR "trick or treat" with truly hungry and needy youngsters in less fortunate situations.

These youngsters, when they come trick or treating October 31 will have the familiar orange carton of UNICEF in which they will ask the householder to donate some pennies. Instead of collecting mountains of candy (which often finds its way months later, unused to the garbage can) the youngsters can hope to catch the Halloween cheer by providing essential food for his needy peers.

UNICEF moves have been shown throughout the schools, and permission slips are available at the schools or at Mike's bookstore. The children will have the permission of his parents to go out with the orange carton of UNICEF. When the child returns the signed permission slip (either to the school or to Mike's) he is given a carton and assigned to a block (or a senior high school student).

Permission slips may also be obtained from Sue Heinemann, (921-6488) or at the Joint Recreation Committee Halloween Party at Nassau Street school, October 30. Teen-agers have worked long and hard on this drive. They are enthusiastic and hopeful. Their goal is $2,000. They appeal to the townfolk to help them realize it.

Why I Plan to Vote REPUBLICAN DEMOCRATIC

By Tristram B. Johnson

By Vilnot C. Morgan Jr.

I am a Republican. I believe in the two-party system — just as long as one of them is Republican.

And this year, the Republican Party offered Princeton voters the opportunity to help elect two outstanding leaders, one at the local and one at the state level.

Four years ago, a political unknown won his first elective office, that of Mayor of Princeton Borough. Two years later, on the basis of his splendid record, Henry Patterson was resoundingly re-elected.

Another two years have passed and Mayor Patterson has agreed to serve this community for a third term. Again, his record has earned our full support. Under his leadership, and with the help of an active Council, Princeton Borough has moved forward in many vital areas.

Public Servants, Both

The concluding articles in TOWN TOPICS' annual "Why I Plan to Vote" series have been contributed by men who have served in the offices about which they write.

For the Democrats, Vilnot C. Morgan Jr. in 1945 became the first member of his party to win the position of mayor in over a decade. He is now general manager of the Institute for Advanced Study.

Tristram B. Johnson sat on Borough Council for two terms as a Republican. He is a stock broker.

During these Republican years, the Dilley Committee was commissioned and its report received, saving the Borough clear direction in its re-advance. The Township Board, Mayor Patterson, cooperating with the Township Government, shared the formation of community in recent years has the Joint Recreation Committee.

Through this body Princeton now has a full-time Recreation Director and a well-developed plan that will fulfill the needs of all groups within our community. This summer, we will be able to enjoy three magnificent swimming pools, fine all-weather tennis courts, and many other recreational facilities available in Community Park.

This Republican administration helped make possible the new Public Library, now under construction on Witherspoon.

It has been the custom in recent years for the local political clubs to submit copy for this column. I agree. I am disappointed citizens of the community whose participation is less obvious than mine, but I have nevertheless been asked by the Princeton Democratic Association to present my thoughts on the Borough council for two reasons: (1) I am a fair historian of the record of the Democratic Party in and out of office for the past two decades; and (2) I have known all the candidates well for several years, and I have known them collectively, perhaps, better than anyone else in Princeton.

First, let me talk about the Party. The Democratic Party, nationally and locally, is the party of the people, and its concern has always been for the less fortunate members of our society. This is not just a slogan. This is history. All of the great social legislation in the last 30 years has been enacted under Democratic administrations, and I am proud to be able to say, without qualification, that the Democratic Party in Princeton has always been an accurate reflection of this national concern for social justice.

The first integrated housing in Princeton was built by a Democratic administration 10 years ago; a Democratic Mayor of the Borough set the pattern of official accessibility to every citizen, no matter how small his problem; and more recently it has been the Democratic candidates for local office, such as incumbent councilmen Joseph Strayer and Kenneth Darr, who have been in front rank in the battles for civil rights, housing for the elderly, and recreation facilities for our children. It is lions with the Township Board, Mayor Patterson, cooperating with the Township Government, shared the formation of community in recent years has the Joint Recreation Committee.

I am happy to say that the Democratic candidates for Borough office this year are in the great tradition.

Nicholas Barinello, our candidate for mayor, is a native of Princeton and a neighbor of whom we all should be proud. He holds one of the most distinguished military records in the community, and is currently commanding officer of our National Guard unit.

His professional activity as County Adjuster brings him in daily touch with many of the less fortunate citizens of Jersey. When he meets a tough issue, he walks right up and looks it in the eye, rather than the evasive and to this point he hunting for the nearest bush to hide behind. If elected, his compassion during the past two years he has worked un- and with a candor that will possibly bring the recreation program to reality, while I like a March wind.

Philip Minis, our other candidate for council, has a record of volunteer service to Princeton, far too long to detail in this space. His greatest contribution to the community was as a Commissioner of the Borough Housing Authority, and the one citizen who was absolutely dedicated to the construction of the Housing for the Elderly. More than any man in Princeton has been in the battle for the housing of the elderly.

Joseph Bannan, candidate for council, has a record of activism in the civil rights movement that will compare favorably with anyone in Princeton. A veteran of the Second World War, he was one of the few residents of his neighborhood who had the guts to stand up and be counted in the battle for the housing of the elderly.

Important Function Served.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
I cannot refrain from commenting on one point made by the author in his otherwise wise thoughtful letter (TOWN TOPICS, Oct. 18, 1965), in which he states, "As is the case in every community there are those who place questions as to infringement of personal rights, legal and moral problems, etc., all of which obfuscate the scientific facts of the issue." It seems to me that in an increasingly scientific and technological age it becomes more and more important to examine the political, legal and moral aspects of a program that purports to be primarily a matter of "scientific facts."

In the case of fluoridation, which affects the whole community as it does, these other issues could in spite of the "scientific facts" well justify defeating the program. To say that "infringement of personal rights, legal and moral problems," and other objections to fluoridation have been considered and resolved is one thing; to override them is another.

Furthermore, those who raise doubts and questions are serving a very important function in the community. Heaven help us if the time ever comes when we have to accept without question every program, however benevolent, that is imposed upon us.

DOROTHY E. HOMMEL
(Mrs James G. Hommel)
45 Monroe Lane

Preserve Personal Freedom.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
While I disagree with many things advocated by the finale of the anti-fluoridated camp, I would like to comment briefly on the current controversy.

Recent correspondence in your paper suggested or implied the similarity between no value and at times harmful requiring fluoridation of water. It is misleading to do not need them. Twenty years ago, when the water was added to a variety of food products, it was hailed as an important public health measure.

It is now becoming apparent that ingestion of excessive amounts of added vitamin D may lead to inflexible hypercalcemia, a condition which affects the structure of the face, mental abnormalities, and changes of the aortic valve in the heart. In view of such potential dangers the Food and Drug Administration, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, is now proposing to limit the permitted level of vitamin D supplementation in milk and to prohibit the addition of vitamin D to specified food products.

It appears to me improper and wrong to make people ingest chemicals that they neither want nor need. It is important to all of us to preserve our personal freedom of choice in these matters and it is possible to retain this privilege while taking all the necessary steps to prevent disease. All that has to be done to prevent dental caries is to establish clinics where the children of the needy could be examined and treated and where their parents could receive free fluoride in the form of tablets or drops with proper instructions for administration.

NOT UTOPIA FOR ALL: Princeton is the ideal community for meek, perhaps, but it falls short in the eyes of teenagers. Frank Conner, left, and Sally Falzone, right, echo the feelings of other young people that as far as things to do and places to go Princeton is a Sahara.

Question of the Week

Question: Lot of complimentary things are written and spoken about Princeton; is there any thing wrong with it in your opinion?

Where asked: Palmer Square

Sally Falzone, Brunswick Pike, Princeton: High sophomore. Yes, it's too conservative and high class. I like Trenton better because there is more life there.

Fran Coover, Dutch Neck, Princeton: High sophomore. There isn't enough for the kids to do. We're always being chased for just standing around and the police always keep looking for trouble that isn't there. We wouldn't have this problem — being pestered all the time and accused of loitering — if there was some place where we could go.

Mrs. Cynthia Yao, 55 Einstein Drive, housewife: It's a very nice, really beautiful, town but it is a little too expensive.

Amilio Amhas, 51 Morcan Avenue, student: Princeton University: It's a terribly apathetic community, intellectually.

Miss Irene Collins, 8 Newlin Road, mother's helper: I'm a foreigner but I can tell you one thing wrong with Princeton. It's a very dull place for young people. They need a lot more activities. I've been at parties a couple of times at the University and they're just hopeless. The men are all sex-starved, at least the ones I've come across. At home — I come from Liverpool, England, the home of the Beatles — it's just fantastic; there's something to do for everyone from 19 to 90. There are no dances for young people in this town. The three coffee places in town are the dulliest places imaginable. It's a good town for music, we go to the concerts, and then there is McCarter Theatre, but they have miles of time to do that later. We want to live it up now. I know of about 30 girls myself who have come out here for one year and they all feel like I do. And it isn't only us — the American girls in town feel the same way.

Roman Weinreb, Deans, unemployed, formerly associated with the beer industry: Yes, there are no public phone booths. I've been walking around for ten minutes trying to find one. They do have excellent parking facilities. Actually, these are only quick impressions: I think Princeton is a very lovely town.

Miss Elizabeth Hall, Westminster College student: It's so ideal that sometimes it just doesn't seem natural — it isn't like a regular town. It's almost too perfect.

Michael Altshuler, Jefferson College, Graduate student: So town is free for the most part. I can't find anything from what I can see of the town that is detrimental to the way I can see them in industry. I lived in a town growing 70 per cent a year. Princeton is a town that is about 20 miles closer to its industry was located right in the center of town.

Michael Levy, New Brunswick, week reporter for the Princeton Packet: I think Princeton is a beautiful, congenial and lovely town. I've found the people to be very helpful. It's a marvelous town for a municipal reporter; no one seems to want to close you off. If you don't know something, people are very helpful in giving background information which, for a new reporter in town like myself, is very helpful. It's a big change from New England. The thing I think is really wrong with Princeton is that it is too upper-middle-class. The young executive, the beginning reporter, the police officer find it hard to make a home here. It's just too expensive.

Jon Rinnander, 24 Dickinson Street, graduate student: Yes, a lack of girls.

Charles White, New Brunswick, shipping-receiving for Dow Jones, U.S. 1:1: I don't prove of all the students. Some are a little too weird for me for general. I think Princeton is a very nice town. A lot of people like to live there. I need to live there myself.

Ray Neek, teacher: I just have the feeling that professional prices and the cost for services are more in Princeton than in any other town. I moved from the Main line which is thought of as a high-priced area but I don't think so now. Other than that, I think this is a beautiful area. At first, we thought we wouldn't like the flatlands of New Jersey but this is lovely.

Donald Papier, Trenton, opinion associated with Dr. Abrams and Dr. LaSchever: I don't live in Princeton but I have the opportunity, being an epicure, to work directly with the people. I find that I enjoy meeting and serving the people here. I like their general make-up; they're pleasant and for me it's just a pleasure to work in Princeton.

Emilio Troniman, Trenton employee of Gallup and Robinson: It's a nice town but as far as recreational facilities go for young people, there aren't enough places to go. Compared to Trenton, though, it's a nice place to live.

Mrs. Sheila Stross, 15 Marcy Place, housewife: I should tell you first that I've lived here only a short while but I think Princeton's marvelous. I think it's Utopia.

Tim McFeeley, Pyne Hall, Princeton University student: Princeton is a small town so it's a little limited and as a town can be perfect but I believe Princeton would be an ideal place to raise children because of its educational and cultural opportunities. The Road, Graduate student, so town is free for the most part. I can't find anything from what I can see of the town that is detrimental to the way I can see them in industry. I lived in a town growing 70 per cent a year. Princeton is a town that is about 20 miles closer to its industry was located right in the center of town.

Ray Peters, Canal Road, joined Army paratroopers on Saturday: There isn't anything wrong with Princeton that I can see. I've traveled around quite a bit and I feel Princeton is one of the cleanest towns I've ever been in. Everything is so well kept.

BOOK REVIEWS TO BEGIN
Under Joint Sponsorship
Another season of jointly sponsored book reviews will begin with Wednesday, October
the guidance of the Princeton Public Library and Jewish Center. The programs will be held at the Center on 425 Nassau Street.

The first book scheduled to be discussed is James A. Michener's best-seller, "The Source." This historical novel dealing with the history of Israel, will be reviewed by Dr.
Donald Ercord, associate professor of speech at Temple University. Rabbi Everett Gendler, of Jewish Center, and the Rev. Richard Thomas, Methodist Chaplain at Princeton University.

The public is invited to attend the reviews free. The charge. The public library has purchased extra copies of "The Source" to meet the anticipated reading demand. The first reviewing session will begin at 10 a.m. following coffee at 9:30.

Future book reviews will consider topics such as methods of election, women writers, attorney-client privilege, and children's books. The Kennedy illness and the United Nations.

Working on the book review committee at the Jewish Center are Mrs. Harold Borkan, chairman; Mrs. Max Bogart,
Mrs. Seymour Bogodonsky, Mrs.
Herman Cohen, Mrs. Samuel
Cohen, Mrs. Esther Dreyer,
Mrs. Mortimer Feldman, Mrs.
Leon Greenberg, Mrs. Istaun Miller, Mrs. Walker
Pace, Mrs. Paul Rappaport,
Place and Tulane St.
Mrs. C. M. Schwab, Mrs.
Frank Shipiro and Mrs. C.K.
Yutkowski.

SHOW IS SCHEDULED
By Model Railroad Group
The HO Model Railroad Show, planned for December 11 and 12 by Pacific Southern Railway, Inc., will be the second annual exhibition designed to raise money for charitable work.

This year's fund-raising for the Council to continue to serve show in Rocky Hill will benefit the Princeton Youth Center.
Rocky Hill Volunteer Fire
Rescue Squads.
The Pacific Southern was organized last year for raising funds for various organizations and promoting the cause of model railroading. Since the first three men, who have given much of the railway has died, serve my vote. Governor Money recently said that he had Republican in the White House, and with a small minority of the House is to Republican Governors and Republican Mayors that the Party and all clear-thinking voters must look for the leadership of tomorrow.

For your future, for Princeton's future, for our state's future, I hope you will vote Republican.

AUCTION ON SCHEDULE
Of Woman's Club. The Woman's Club of Lawrenceville will sponsor a silent auction,
a Chinese auction and a showing of the movie "A Song to Remember" on Tuesday, November 8, in the Kirby Arts Center on the Lawrenceville School campus. The film will follow the auction, which is planned for 3:30. It will be open to the public with a $1 donation accepted at the door.
Proceeds will go into the Mary Darwin Health Memorial Fund which is used each year to give financial aid to a Princeton area girl wishing to attend college and receive specialized advanced training. Mrs.
Richard Harsh is the club president and Mrs. John Peterson, scholarship committee.

Place and Tulane St.
Mrs. C. M. Schwab, Mrs.

These, in addition to many other accomplishments, more than warrant the re-election of Mayor Patterson. Equally deserving of our votes are his four allow Republicans, Al Sorens-son, running for the fourth term as a Councilman, and Will Bell, standing for his third term as Councilman.

These men, who have given

serve my vote. Governor Mon-

Princeton, this is his creation.
He has brought to this campaign only practical and well-thought-out proposals for middle income housing, and if he is elected, I can personally guarantee that it will be the best thing that has ever been, again, his grateful beneficiary.

Marie Con, candidate for mayor, also brings to the electorate a distinguished record of volunteer service to the community, and she would bring to the Borough Hall a combination of efficiency and charm that would make even the payment of taxes a pleasure. We need women in government, and Marie Con is just the kind of woman that government needs.
I plan to vote Democratic on November 2 because I firmly believe that this is the party of compassionate action, rather than reluctant reaction, and because I know that these people are dedicated, not only to the basic principles of the Democratic Party but also to the ultimate well-being of all Princetonians.

VOTE "YES" FOR THE MERCER COUNTY COMMUNITY COLLEGE

As a non-partisan group interested solely in the future of Mercer County, we believe that we need a Community College which will be able to provide higher education—liberal arts, technical and vocational—at a low cost to both students and the community and accessible to our students who otherwise would not have the opportunity to obtain any form of college training. Recent State Legislation provides for the establishment of county community colleges with assistance of State and Federal support to provide for the increasing demands being made on our colleges and universities.

We urge you to vote "YES" for the establishment of the Mercer County Community College—the only public question on the ballot on November 2.

A Report To The Community on Interstate Highway 95

On Thursday evening, September 30, Dr. T. H. Schuyler, New Jersey State Highway Commissioner, and Mr. Schuyler, the highway department's chief engineer, came to Princeton to field questions about Interstate 95 and the development of this new major highway. They came at the invitation of the Princeton Citizens' Committee on I-95.

final considerations. New Jersey's route will then be submitted to the Bureau of Public Roads, in Washington.

The Commissioner and Mr. Schuyler were asked to comment on a map — of the I-95 route alignments as developed to date by Parsons, Brinckerhoff, A.

The Committee feels that an Interstate highway, built anywhere between the Princeton State Neuro-Psychiatric Institute and Rocky Hill, would not only impair the character and development of the greater Princeton area. The Committee has no wish to defend any given route; its purpose is to, along with the community, make suggestions clear to appropriate authorities the commodate a parallel highway, and the character of Mercer, Somerset, and Middlesex Counties would be retained. The proposed highway has, after all, been a part of the community for all centuries. The kind of development that have always occurred beside railways would not be disrupted by the proximity of a new highway. Moments could be taken by the chemical. He reassured the Committee that the word of engineers was not the only professional advice his department was seeking. Consultants in planning and use were being called upon as well.

Professor Reese, an international highway planner who is Director of Princeton Citizens' Committee on 1-95. Professor Gerald Bresne, chairman of the committee, said that the committee was also present. What follows is a report of that meeting, written for everyone in the area and, particularly, the Citizens' Committee members of the Princeton Highway Department. The meeting concerned with the most townships near the highway department's plans.

The Commissioner was asked, first of all, about newspaper reports to the effect that the final alignment of Interstate 95 had already been decided, and that the highway department had proposed 1-95 out after the election in order to keep 1-95 out of the campaign. The Commissioner replied that this was the highway department's policy. He said that highway department's policy was to keep 1-95 out of the campaign. He said that highway department's policy was to keep 1-95 out of the campaign. He said that highway department's policy was to keep 1-95 out of the campaign.

He went on to say that after the election, the highway department would give the highway department the priority in executive session with officials of the counties and towns affected. Then, a meeting would be held, at which all interested parties would be invited to express their views. These views, the Commissioner noted emphatically, will be discussed and incorporated into the state's route alignments within that corridor.

"Trenton, N. J., October 8, 1965 — The Highway Department re-affirmed today that the location for Interstate Route 95, between the Delaware River at Scudder Falls and Route 287, in Somerset or Middlesex Counties, has not been established.

"To find route location the State Highway Commissioner will review the recommendations of the Department's consultant and staff are being carefully reviewed to insure that all factors advocated by the consultant and staff are given due consideration.

"Suggestions concerning the location of subject route have generated in three counties involving twelve possible alignments and there are approx-

ed to date by Parsons, Brinckerhoff, A strong feeling of people interested in Princeton that most of the plans, now being considered by the highway department, would hurt Princeton but would likely not be in the best interest of New Jersey. For example, one of the many ways the highway department is considering the State of New Jersey is to build a highway through the central countryside, in combination, attract people who not only establish their homes in the state but their businesses in the state. This is the only begins with Princeton. Its residential deconcentration includes much of Lawrence, Hopewell, Montgomery, Franklin Townships. Most of the highway department's plans would cut off and, in fact, retrograde the development of this segment of New Jersey, thus causing the state to drop out of the highway department's plan. One additional, and more local, point was made by the highway department's plan. PROTECTION PLUS: This picture of Charlie Gogolak kicking a field goal against Pennsylvania Saturday illustrates the superb protection he receives from Princeton blocking. The Quakers' line has actually been bowed backwards to create a path for the ball on its upward flight. Gogolak booted three to raise his season's total to 11, thus setting his third national record in two weeks as Tigers won, 31-0 (TOWN TOPICS Photo by Bob Matthews)

SPORTS In Princeton

TIGERS GAIN MOMENTUM
Offense Has Everything
Now nationally ranked among the top 12 teams in everything ranging from yardage gained rushing, total offense points scored and overall ability, Princeton's football team continues to fascinate its followers with the varied offensive display the Tigers have generated this season.

In thrashing Pennsylvania, 31 to 0 Saturday, the defending Ivy champions scored eight straight times when they came into possession of the ball. They reached the end zone on assorted magnificent plays ranging from a fullback plunge to fullback sorties through tackle and around end, and three plays that varied from a three-yard bullet to a 66-yard run. Included were three Charlie Gogolak field goals of 44, 42 and 47 yards, the kind that still have the nation's football fans amazed but are becoming commonplace in Palmer Stadium.

All this will go on display again Saturday when a Brown player which won its first game last week after dropping four in a row takes the field for a 2 o'clock kickoff. Since the visitors have in quarterback Bob Hall the best passer that Princeton has been called upon to face this season, the contest may have a share of added interest but the outcome is not likely to remain in doubt through the second quarter.

Only once able to top the 500 mark in Ivy play since the league became formal in 1956 Brown normally has a few players of considerable ability but is always markedly short of depth. Its personnel problems were further complicated this fall when four players — two good tackles and two promising fullbacks — were declared scholastically ineligible.

Aerial Offensive Due. Unable to move the ball steadily on the ground, the Bruins rely heavily on the rollout passing of Hall. He has come back impressively from the unfortunate accident which befell him here two years ago as a sophomore when he suffered a broken leg.

QUICK LOOK AT BROWN
OFFENSE: Lacks scoring punch badly. Has totaled only 21 points in five games.

DEFENSE: Fair, but lacks depth. Weak at tackle positions.

CHIEF ASSET: Quarterback Bob Hall, a good passer who tops 30% in completion.

CHIEF PROBLEM: Weak ground game that has averaged only 100 yards per game in Ivy action.

TYPE OF ATTACK: Wing T with balanced line.

In Ivy action to date, he has hit on virtually three of every five passes he has thrown (52 of 87 for a percentage of .598) but has not managed to overcome the Bruins' weakness in running. Actually, it was Hall himself who gave the best performance as a ball carrier in the 6.0 upset of Colgate as he picked up 144 yards in 20 carries.

Launching 23 passes (with ten completions, against Colgate), Hall put the ball in motion 49 times and will again bear the brunt of the attack here. His backfield running mates are halfbacks Bill Carr and John Hutcheson and fullback Pete Tharballin. Brown was surprised by Just 30 Years Ago...

The odds appear to be better than when that Princeton and Dartmouth would duplicate the setting for their Palmer Stadium meeting of 1935, when both teams entered the contest on November 23 that year unbesun.

To do so, the Tigers must still conquer Brown, Harvard and Yale, while the Indians have Yale, Columbia and Cornell remaining on their schedule. Off their respective 5-0 marks to date, both will be favored against their next three opponents.

Should they make it to the final game with perfect records, it will be agreeable to Princetonians: if 1935's outcome of 26-6 for the Orange and Black is duplicated. That was the contest staged in a driving snowstorm and marked by the famed 12th man incident, when a spectator overloaded with anti-freeze lined up for a last-ditch stand with the hard-pressed Indians.

Rhode Island, 14-1, in its opener and lost successively to Penn., 7-0; Yale, 3-0; and Dartmouth, 35-9 before edging Colgate. Like Penn, the visitors will give away considerable weight to both Princeton's platoons, but unlike the Quakers, they have had the ability to make it tough for a heavily favored Princeton eleven in other years.

TIGERS HAMMER PENN

With Tremendous First Half. Never in the modern era of Princeton football has a Tiger eleven given a first-half performance as glittering as the 41-point output it recorded Saturday against Pennsylvania. Once (against an extremely weak Amherst team in 1934) Princeton had hung up 42 points on the board by intermission time on its way to a 75-0 triumph — but this was a well-regarded Penn team that had won three and had come within a touchdown of defeating Dartmouth.

The icing on the cake Saturday was the perfection with which Ron Landeck passed. In contrast to his .397 completion average going into the game,

SHADES OF KAZMAIER! After five games, Tiger tailback Ron Landeck is matching All-American Dick Kazmaier's record-breaking year in total offense. See this page for details. With seven touchdown passes thrown, he is also in range of the Ivy season record of ten set in 1957 by Yale's Dick Winterbauer.

he connected on five out of six — his last five in a row, actually — no less than three of them for touchdowns.

"Landeck throws the best running pass we have seen here since Kazmaier," Dick Colman said after the game. The statistics bear him out: Kazmaier's best season, which saw him compile a total offense of 1827 yards, is a per-game average of 203. After five games this season, Landeck has 1013 yards running and passing — a per-game average of 203.

Princeton's offense simply has the opposition outmanned. Landeck's running and passing, abetted by extremely fine blocking, is supplemented by the running of fullback Bert Kerstetter, who is in turn aided by the fact that the defense is naturally keying on Landeck. Kerstetter is averaging around four yards per carry, and frequently picks up big yardage when Landeck fakes to the outside.

For the second week in a row, Gogolak broke a national record when he booted three field goals to raise his one-season total to 14. Against Colgate, he raised his career record to 24 and his points by kicking to 135, both also national marks.

He missed two last week, in addition to those he made, going wide to the right from 35 yards out in the third period and falling just short of the goal line on a 55-yard effort on the last play of the game. However, he now has 150 points in his Princeton career and needs only 37 more in his last four games — well below his average this season — to set an all-time Princeton scoring record.

Eight Straight Bullseyes. After stalling out in three plays when they took the opening kickoff, the Tigers set what may be a record of sorts by scoring the next eight times they came into possession. They rolled 52 yards in eight plays, Kerstetter plunging over from point-blank range, and then covered 4 yards in seven, Landeck passing to end Bill Potter just short of the goal posts from 22 yards out.

Gogolak's first field goal, a 44-yard boot, followed with 50 seconds of the second period gone to boost the victors' output above the point-a-minute mark. Just 59 seconds later, Landeck hit wingback John Bowers on a 64-yard scoring play and the period was still not five minutes old when he shot into the end zone from ten yards out to make it 31-0. Both TD's had been set up by pass interceptions.

The final ten points were —Continued on page 49

Even though your electric bills may be higher, ELECTRICITY COSTS LESS TODAY THAN IN 1940!

Think of all the appliances you've added since 1940 — appliances that save you countless hours of work and bring a whole world of entertainment and comfort into your home. Our point is, the average home uses more than four times the amount of electricity today than it did 25 years ago. But the combination of rate reductions and increased use of electricity has resulted in a 43% decrease in the average unit cost of electricity since 1940! Yes, when it comes to electricity, the "good old days" have progressed to "better new ones".

chalked up in the inevitably slow-moving second half, with Dick Colman remarking later that he had used four separate units and virtually everyone on the bench in an effort to hold the score down. Penn coach Bob Odell, who had never lost to Princeton while an undergraduate with the Quakers (1941-43), failed to attend the post-game press conference.

Odell was apparently miffed at Goddard's field goal attempt on the last play of the game. He was quoted as saying of Colman: "I wouldn't shake hands with him if he were the last man on earth."

After this weekend's go-round with Brown, success for Princeton will be immensely harder to achieve. The Tigers will play under a great deal of pressure at Cambridge, where they have not won since 1897, and must then face a steadily-improving Yale eleven while preparing for the dramatic collision with Dartmouth.

If they win their first seven, it is entirely likely that the final two games of the season will be rock-solid scholastic. Tickets applications for Yale close this Thursday and for Dartmouth a week later.

SOLEBURY BLANKED
By Hun, 26-0. The Hun School gained its second straight Penn-Perseus League victory Saturday when it blanked Solebury, 26-0. For the steadily improving Hun squad, (3-1), the win marked its first shutout of the season and the first time it has scored more than two touchdowns in a single game. The Red and Black will engage next in its only Friday contest of the season when it journeys to Philadelphia to oppose Friends Central in a league encounter. The Quakers are coached by Dave Kirk when Hun coach Hawley Waterman described as one of the best in the prep school circuit.

Waterman said: "Dave gets more mileage out of the material available than any coach I know. His teams are always well-coached with good execution. He's one of the best." Waterman went on to say that about all he knew about Central this year was that it owned a 6-0 victory over Remington. "Hun will be bigger and outwrest them," he said, "so it will be our size against their speed. Will just have to wait and see which wins out."

Against Solebury Saturday, it was all Hun. The visitors scored twice in the first half and again in the third and fourth periods. "The boys did a good job," commented Waterman.

Mike Miller, Hun's outstanding runner, set up the first of six points on a 18-yard score with a 43-yard gallop in the first period. Although he did not score, Waterman reported that Miller was "fantastic all afternoon. He set up everything. He did a terrific job of running."

As it was, scoring honors fell to fullback Charlie Chipman and quarterback Jim Mc-Leod, who both tallied on four periods. "The boys did a good job," commented Waterman.

OPENS THURSDAY!

WHEN YOU CAN'T PASS, RUN and Princeton High tailback Bill Currelo can do both well. Here he is carrying the ball for a first down in the second period between Bridge-water-Raritan after finding his receiver covered. The 30-yard pass to Jeff Bullock accounted for Princeton's second TD. It came with 12 seconds left in the half. (Staff Photo) this season to have a look at his reserves. "We managed to get everyone in," he said, and he added that he and his assistant, Dave Lester, were highly pleased with what they saw. "A lot of our boys are really coming along," said Waterman. One such boy singled out by Waterman was Duke Chute, a 15-year-old sophomore and 215-pound tackle. "He led the line in the number of tackles against Solisbury, and he is really going to be some ball player," Waterman said. He added: "Chute's gained 12 pounds since he's been out for football. The Hun School can't feed him enough."

PIS at Woodbury

After 13-12 Victory. For the second week in a row, Princeton High School ventures into the unknown Saturday when it travels to South Camden to oppose Woodbury High School, a school it will be meeting for the first and last time. Fol. Currelo throwing from about 40 yards of the Little Tigers are hopeful that the results will be the same as last week when PHS vied with Bridgewater-Raritan for the first time on a gridiron and emerged a 13-12 victor.

There are differences, however, which suggest the outcome of the Woodbury clash will be different. Bridgewater, a relatively new school now in its sixth year of existence and a basketball power, has had little success on the gridiron. Of those first five seasons, only one has been a winning one. Last year, the Golden Falcons won only two of nine and this year they carried a 0-3-1 record into their first meeting with PHS.

Woodbury is the antithesis of B-R. Commencing on Woodbury at the start of the season, PHS coach Dick Wood said "Woodbury is really strong. They have trouble with their scheduling because nobody wants to play them. I understand they won 30 games and places him way out from a- more all Little Tigers in this department. A junior Jeff is only 138 pounds and 3-8.

For all-round offense, Wood tabbed Currelo. Billy ran well but it was his passing which carried the day for the Little Tigers. His completion percentage would have been more impressive had some of his receivers had a bit more on their finger tips.

One of his aeriels was for an apparent six-pointer early in the game when Currelo hit McEwen with a pass-run effort for 40 yards. But the hero Mr. McEwen became McEwen the goat when officials charged him with being illegally in motion at the start of the play.

Passing the Key. As the season progresses, it is becoming increasingly apparent that it is Currelo's passing which keeps the PHS offense from stalling. And Billy is throwing with more poise and confidence each week. He is on target consistently and he is learning the prudence of not throwing the ball when more of his receivers are open.

With the proven ability of McEwen as a receiver and the return of Vince Boccaduro, the air strikes of the Little Tigers can only become more potent. The protection has been better, too.

There was another outstanding catch singled out by Wood and although it didn't figure in the scoring, it enabled the Little Tigers to hang on to the ball longer and eat up time in the final period when Bridgewater was struggling to get on.

Tap the buttons on the new Touch-Tone® phone twice as fast as you now dial.

Touch-Tone service, a totally new concept in telephones, makes calling faster and easier. You tap the buttons, and musical notes trigger electronic impulses to speed your connection. You can order the Touch-Tone phone now in a selection of colors and styles; the table model, the Princess® phone, and the new, streamlined wall model.

The cost is low. Add just $1.50 per month to the regular telephone charges, plus a one-time connection charge, and you're enjoying Touch-Tone service on your residence line—including Touch-Tone service on all extensions. To order, just call the Telephone Business Office. □ The Touch-Tone phone is now available to customers whose telephone numbers begin with 452, 799, 921, and 924.

New Jersey Bell

the scoreboard again. The hero this time was Joe Harding who heretofore was used only on defense but was filling in for the injured Boccanfuso.

"That catch of Harding's was really something," observed Wood. "He really fought for that ball. I still don't see how he caught it. All I could see were a half-dozen pairs of hands in the air." Harding had been guarded by two, possibly three defenders.

For the Woodbury tussle, the Blue and White should be at full strength. Both Carl DeCavalante and co-captain Rich Stewart are fighting leg injuries and McEwen, who is the victim of poor circulation, is constantly bothered by leg cramps. Cirullo, too, bruised a muscle in his throwing arm, but Wood said he felt all would be able to start Saturday together with Boccanfuso.

Wood added that he intends to stress defense this week to stop the powerful home team. Whether this defense plus the air attack (184 yards against B-R) will be enough to stop the south Jersey eleven will be answered Saturday.

FOUR TEAMS FORMED
In Midget Football. After five weeks of practice, the 65 boys participating in the newly-organized Princeton Football Midget League have been divided into four teams. A five-game intramural touch football schedule will follow, culminating in championship and consolation games to be held November 20.

The teams are the Giants coached by John Budd; the Packers, coached by Jack Sapoch; the Eagles, coached by Russ Perone, and the Jets, coached by Peter Budd. All boys are being taught offensive and defensive fundamentals.

A parents' committee has been formed under the direction of Philip Cobb, 335 Walnut Lane. It hopes to raise the funds needed to outfit four teams of 25 boys each and maintain a football school to train younger boys and those who are under and over weight.

With the biggest item consisting of equipment and uniforms, league officials estimate the cost of next year's program to be $4,000. Those wishing to contribute may send their checks to the Princeton Midget Football League, care of John Budd, 314 Western Way.

HOLT WINS IN SAILING
In Jefferson Regatta. The Walter Jefferson Memorial Regatta, staged on the lake Sunday by the Carnegie Sailing Club, was won by Phil Holt. He was awarded a silver bowl, given in memory of Mr. Jefferson, who was an enthusiastic Penguin sailor, and will retain possession for a year.

Person To Person

A teacher, talking about the development of clothing, said it originated as protective covering, but its decorative benefits were not overlooked even in prehistoric times. In cold climates the materials were animal hides, whereas in warmer climes the earliest coverings were made of such things as woven grass. Thousands of years before the Christian era both Egyptian sexes evolved the arts of weaving and of dyeing fabrics, wore skirted garments, and it was not until the decline of the Roman Empire, when the invading Barbarians from northern Europe arrived in pants that these civilizations adopted breeches as male attire. By the 18th century men were competing with women for the most fancy outfits, with men frequently wearing tight fitting pants, lace, and long stockings. To go from the ridiculous to the sublime, come see the beauty of our reconditioned cars... we have some real bargains this week.

Openings in Basketball

Applications for membership in the YMCA Research and Industrial Basketball League are now being accepted for the 1965-66 season. Firms interested in joining should write to John Springer, Princeton YMCA, Avalon Place.

A luncheon will be held next week at which plans will be made and a schedule drawn. Members last year were RCA, Western Electric, ETS, American Cyanamid, the Post Office, RCA Astro, Princeton Hospital and Opinion Research.

ner under a handicap system of scoring based on past performances, which earned recognition for him as having shown the greatest improvement. Peter Lawson was second and Bob Wilson third.

Among the 14-foot sloops, Peter Mory was first. Walt Gibson was runner-up and Tom Hilton third.

In the tenth annual Touch-down Bowl staged by the Club Saturday, 29 entries from various parts of New Jersey and nearby states competed. The victor was the defending champion, Cliff Campbell of Toms River.

Carl Van Duyn, a Princeton University sophomore, was fourth. Phil Holt placed sixth, the highest finish achieved by a member of the club.

BOWLING NOTES

Dutch Neck Takes Lead. Dutch Neck gained six points in last week's play to take the lead in the Tri-County Firemen's League with 28 points. Princeton No. 1, last week's leader, failed to add to its total of 26 points and dropped into third place behind Hook & Ladder "H", which had 27 points.

Norm Luck and Stan Tatum tied for high game honors with identical 232 scores. Also among the high scorers were Bob Schaefer with a 219, Elmer Perantoni with a 215, Frank Maddalon with a 213 and John Donaldson with a 211.

In the B League, Key Shop had its lead cut to six points but continued to dominate play with 30 points. Neat Del took sole possession of second place with 24 points, while Ivy Inn and Maul Electric tied for third with 22 points. Five teams were tied for fifth with 20 points.

Eleven league players broke the 200-barrier in last week's play. Leading these were Dick Harris with a 221 game, Larry Golden with a 215, Joe Baldino with a 212 and Bill Kiefer with a 211.

In the Nassau League, Cifelli Electric continued to lead in the closely contested race for league honors. Cifelli's 28 points gave it only a two-point edge over second place Italian A.S.C. Three teams, Deckers Dairy, Grover Lumber and the Experts were tied for third with 24 points.

In individual play, Ed Hughes piled up the high single game total in league competition last week with a 258. Also rolling high games were Bill Whitley, 227, Prosper Aeschbacher, 225, and Ed Duncan Sr., 218.

Deckers Dairy held onto the lead in the Three-Man Classic League with a total of 16 points. Johnson Electric fell into a tie for second with Turney Motors, both with 11½ points.

Dick Fowler and Eric Weisenberger paced the individual competition with a 600 series and a 245 high game respectively. Fowler gained his series total on games of 190-186-224. Joe Baldino also showed his skill with games of 234 and 211.

In the Business Women's League, Nassau-Conover Motors regained a tie for first with Claridge Liquors as it raised its point total to 28. Tied for third at 20 points were Jefferson Plumbing, Princeton Gulf and Maul Electric.

Leading the way for woman's individual honors was Dee Hogan with a 180 game. Also bowling well were Lillian Burroughs, 179, Carole Harris and Diane Fowler, 177, and Alice Frazzetta, 175.

IT'S LIKE FALLING IN LOVE

If you're the sort of person who can't bear the thought of a split level, who loves old things, who revels in painting and fixing, who must be five minutes from Nassau Street, and who doesn't have much cash, then you'll get the same quickening of the pulse that we did when we first encountered this adorable little place. Part of the house is about 150 years old and contains nearly 2000 square feet of irresistible nooks and crannies. The grounds are a delightful composition that just happened but couldn't be reproduced. There's a thick stone wall covered with ivy, dozens of marvelous old shade trees, a stone fish pond, a box garden, and a picturesque barn and garage (used to be an old country store). There's one drawback; it's close to but not on Route 1, so you will have to be somewhat impervious to traffic noise. The price is all of

FOR GRACIOUS LIVING

PRINCETON VIEW ESTATES, a new community of fine homes, invites you to inspect the homes presently under construction. This is the most desirable site one can imagine — located only a few minutes drive from Princeton, the gently rolling countryside providing a marvelous view, and bordering on one of the loveliest country clubs in central New Jersey.

IN ADDITION to the homes presently under construction there are plots available for those wishing to select their own individual designs. We have many beautiful styles and plans for your inspection, or you may submit your own plan to us. The some custom details and fine construction which Princeton View has become so well known are incorporated in all our homes.

DIRECTIONS: Take Route 206 north from Princeton to the traffic light at the intersection of Route 518. Turn left, go 1 1/4 miles to Pine Broe Drive and turn left into Princeton View Estates.

Representative on the premises all day Saturday and Sunday, and can be reached daily from 8 AM to 6 PM at 609-488-4300.

DECK HOUSE, INC

you owe it to yourself as a prudent planner
and wise investor to consider a Deck House.
Many times honored for excellence of design,
and commended for use of quality materials and superior workmanship, Deck House introduces to you a fresh, exciting new experience in contemporary living—presenting houses that are thoughtfully planned, beautifully functional, soundly constructed and tastefully related to their sites. A Deck House, in one of a variety of plans to suit your particular requirements, may be built for you in any location, on land of your own choice, for a surprisingly modest square footage cost. Or, if you prefer, you may choose from a limited number of attractive sites, available through Deck House, in the pleasant New England communities of Sudbury, Lincoln or Carlisle, Massachusetts. We cordially invite you to visit one of our Model Homes at Hillwinds, off Goodman Hill Rd., in Sudbury, Massachusetts; or we will be pleased to send you descriptive material, illustrating its unique features and optional plans.

Down The Home Stretch

Just like a tooth-ache . . . you can remember that it hurt, but did it really hurt that much?

Some of us went through this before in 1949 and 1951. Those renovations were bad, but this was worse . . . So much worse that we might not have done it if we had known just how bad it was going to be. Now that the worst is over and everything is finding its proper place, we're glad we did it.

Thank you for putting up with us and our clouds of dust and piles of debris. Our employees deserve a pat on the back for keeping their sanity during these past two months; but so do you, our wonderful patrons. You've been great!

We think you'll find all the dust and dirt and noise have been worthwhile . . . and look at those new X's!
